Farmers clash with Haryana cops

● TEAR GAS, WATER CANNONS KEEP PROTESTERS AT BAY ● MINISTER MUNDA SEEKS TO BUY TIME ON MSP

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

DAY One of the Dilli Chalo protest by thousands of farmers on Tuesday was stymied at Punjab's borders with tear gas, water cannons and drone surveillance by the Haryana Police at two border points. Later in the day, the farmers announced a temporary truce, saying they would be back in strength the next day.

The protesters want a legal guarantee for the Minimum Support Price (MSP) regime and complete loan waiver for farmers and farm labourers.

The Shambhu border between Ambala and Rajpura and on Khanauri-Jind border resembled a war zone as farmers tried to ram through the police barricades using their tractors and a JCB machine. They broke the first barricade at Shambhu and removed some concrete slabs but were pushed back by the police.

The protesters ran towards the nearby farmlands on the road flanks after the police fired tear gas shells and water cannons. Drones kept a watchful eye and some were reportedly used for offensive action. Tear gas smoke enveloped the area. Protesters were seen covering fallen canisters with jute bags to contain the smoke.

The police also fired rubber bullets and caned the protesters as they had resorted to stoning. The stand-off that began around noon continued till late evening. Some farmers from Haryana were reportedly detained by the state police.

"Around 60 of our farmers have been injured. The government is provoking us by attacking us with tear gas shells and rubber bullets," the farmers claimed. Twenty-four police personnel, including a DSP, were also injured.

Sarwan Singh Pandher, general secretary of the Kisan Mazdoor Sangharsh Committee, said they would return on Wednesday and try to press ahead with around 10,000 protesters at Shambhu.

Rahul promises legal guarantee for MSP

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Congress on Tuesday sought to put the BJP on the mat by announcing that minimum support price (MSP) mechanism would get legal guarantee if it wrests power at the Centre.

But Union minister for agriculture Arjun Munda said a law guaranteeing MSP on crops cannot be introduced in a hurry as it requires consultations with all stakeholders. "This issue also concerns other state governments. We need time to understand this issue and find a method to solve it," he said.

In a post on X, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi wrote, "Farmer brothers, today is a historic day! Congress has decided to give legal guarantee of MSP to every farmer on crops as per Swaminathan Commission. This step will change the lives of 15 crore farmer families by ensuring their prosperity. This is the first guarantee of Congress on the path of justice." Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge later echoed Rahul.

Legal guarantee to MSP regime with extensive procurement of crops from farmers is our guarantee (for LS polls)

Lokayukta police file FIR against DKS, to probe DA case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a surprising development, the Karnataka Lokayukta police have registered an FIR against Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar to probe the Rs 74.93-crore disproportionate assets case against him under the Prevention of Corruption Act.

The FIR was filed 50 days after the case was transferred by the state government to the Lokayukta police for investigation.

The Congress government issued a notification on December 22, 2023, transferring the case to the Lokayukta police for investigation. This was after issuing a notification on November 28, 2023, withdrawing the consent granted to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) for investigation on September 25, 2019, by the previous BJP government.

After registering the FIR, the Lokayukta police have written to the CBI to transfer details and records related to the investigation done by it till the consent was withdrawn, sources in the Lokayukta police said.

The High Court of Karnataka is hearing the petitions filed by the CBI and BJP MLA Basanagouda R Patil questioning the withdrawal of consent given to the CBI and transfer of investigation to the Lokayukta police. On February 12, the division bench allowed the interlocutory application filed by Patil's counsel to make the Lokayukta police a respondent to the petition and adjourned the hearing to February 29. The CBI has made the Lokayukta police a respondent to its petition. P6

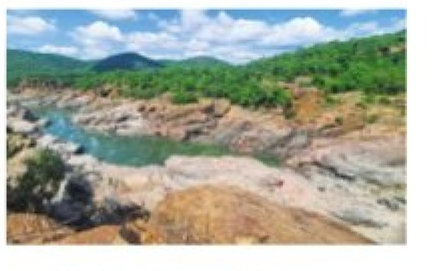
Only solution to end B'luru's water crisis is Mekedatu, says deputy CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Tuesday said that an estimated 20% of people living in Bengaluru depend on private tanker operators for drinking water.

"About 20% of Bengaluru is getting water from these tanker operators. The solution for this problem is the proposed Mekedatu reservoir project. We are making all efforts to make it possible and I need your (Opposition) cooperation too," he said in the Assembly.



Shivakumar was replying to Jayanagar MLA CK Ramamurthy, who raised the issue of drinking water not being supplied to flats constructed by the Karnataka Slum Development Board.

The DyCM pointed out that the city's population increased by 10 lakh every year and it has become difficult for the authorities to supply drinking water to all. "We need 6.5 tmcft more Cauvery water to meet the demand in Bengaluru. It is our responsibility to provide drinking water to all," he said.

Deputy Leader of Opposition Arvind Bellad said, "While Shivakumar says there is water shortage, how come private tanker operators are supplying it to apartment complexes and houses in Bengaluru." P7

OLD DEMAND

Siddu may declare Gokak, Chikkodi as new dists on Friday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BELAGAVI, the biggest district in the state in terms of its geographical area, is expected to be divided into three districts in view of the three-decade-old demand by leaders of various organisations in the region.

According to sources, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah may announce Chikkodi and Gokak as new districts while presenting the budget on Friday. The state government has directed the district administration to provide all details in this regard before the budget presentation.

Leaders of various organisations and associations have been demanding that Chikkodi and Gokak taluks be made new districts for all administrative purposes. There have also been demands from leaders of Bailhongal and Athani to declare these two taluks as new districts.

In 1997, the then chief minister JH Patel almost issued a notification declaring Chikkodi and Gokak as new districts, but did not do so because of pressure from various Kannada organisations to stop Marathi domination in the border areas of Belagavi district.

The leaders of various organisations said that the government should divide Belagavi into three districts for administrative convenience. Chikkodi and Gokak taluks have the infrastructure and manpower needed to make them as new district headquarters, they added. Even leaders of Congress, BJP and JDS parties in Chikkodi and Gokak are of the view that the two taluks should be declared as new districts.

Just one seat, Cong doesn't even deserve it in Delhi: AAP

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

THE fissures in INDIA bloc continued to deepen further with the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) on Tuesday offering just one seat for Congress in Delhi for the upcoming Lok Sabha polls. The party announced candidates for two Lok Sabha seats in Gujarat and one in Goa.

Blaming the Congress for delay in finalising the seat-sharing formula, AAP Rajya Sabha MP Sandeep Pathak said going by its past performance in the Delhi polls, the Congress does not even deserve one seat.

AAP was waiting for over a month for talks to resume, but there has been no communication from the Congress, he claimed. Representatives of both parties met twice in January. After that, no talks have taken place as the Congress is busy with its yatra, Pathak said. He cautioned the Congress that the AAP will announce its candidates for the six seats if there is no progress in the seat-sharing talks.

B'lurean among 23 in country to score 100 in JEE Mains

PURAN CHOUDHARY @Bengaluru

AMOGH Agarwal from Bengaluru is one of the top scorers in the Joint Entrance Examination (JEE) Mains 2024 Session 1. The National Testing Agency (NTA) on Tuesday declared the results, and a total of 23 students scored 100 NTA score in the B.E/B.Tech (Paper 1).

Amogh's father Salil Agarwal, an entrepreneur in the city, said he was jubilant that his son is one of the 23 students and hopes he performs well in the second session too.

Agarwal said Amogh, a single child, used to study for 12-14 hours a day but did not take any stress. "Amogh wants to pursue computer science and aspires to enrol in one of the IITs in the country," he added.

The 17-year-old enjoys playing cricket and likes to bowl.

Residents, Oppn decry property tax notices under revised scheme

BJP, AAP, BNP extend support to residents who received notices

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CITIZENS and political parties are lashing out at the BBMP for sending a property tax demand notice under a 'revised' tax scheme, and harassing them. They want the municipality to stop threatening people and say they will stand firm and fight oppression, and seek justice.

The BJP, AAP and local Bengaluru Navanirmana Party (BNP) have extended support to residents who have received the notice, and termed the 'revised' collection unscientific and unjust. Loganathan, who claimed he is being harassed by BBMP despite paying property tax on time, said, "Despite having clear evidence of paying property tax correctly, we're being threatened with unjust penalties. This is nothing short of harassment."

Jayanagar MLA CK Ramamurthy has termed the BBMP action "unscientific" and said the City BJP unit will launch a protest if the Palike fails to roll back its 'revised tax scheme'. "Some people who had to pay Rs 40,000 in tax are forced to pay over Rs 1 lakh. Many property owners have been warned that police would soon seal their buildings. We will not allow this to happen," said Ramamurthy.

Aam Aadmi Party media incharge Jagadish V Sadam said AAP will stand by Bengaluru's residents who have received the Palike's notice to pay under the revised tax scheme. BNP's Poongothai Paramasivam termed BBMP's action 'dictatorial' and called it abuse of authority.

Palike gets 1,500 applications for 273 posts

Bengaluru: The BBMP received around 1500 applications for 273 vacancies for various posts under the National Urban Health Mission. Chief Health Officer, Primary Health, Dr Syed Sirajuddin Madani said, "The Palike received around 400 applications last time but this year saw an increase in the number of aspirants. The recruitment drive will continue on Wednesday and Thursday. The idea aims to strengthen the Municipality health system,"

PRR will be turned into economic corridor: DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

DEPUTY CM DK Shivakumar on Tuesday said that the State Government will develop the Peripheral Ring Road (PRR) as an economic corridor. Responding to a call-attention notice by MLA Shailendra Beldale in the Assembly, Shivakumar, who holds the Bengaluru Development portfolio, said, "It's been 15 years since the PRR was proposed for Bengaluru. Previously, various governments tried to take it up... but failed as no bidder came forward." Hence, the government was taking up the project under a public-private partnership, he added. "Tender has been floated. February 29 is the last day to apply for the tender. The entire project is estimated to cost Rs 24,000 crore," Shivakumar said. On land acquisition, Shivakumar said the PRR project requires 2,596 acres of land of which 220 acres belong to the State Government. "This also means we have to acquire land from private parties, including farmers," he added.

FOCUS ON MENTAL HEALTH, QUALITY OF TREATMENT, SAY EXPERTS

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH the upcoming State budget on Friday, the healthcare sector in Karnataka anticipates significant developments. Health experts have articulated several key expectations, including the integration of mental healthcare into primary health services, expansion of medical education and investment in electronic health records, with an aim to enhance healthcare accessibility, quality and efficiency across the state.

Dr Vivek Jawali, chairman of Cardiothoracic and Vascular Sciences, Fortis Hospital, said, "There is a need for integration of mental healthcare into primary health services, as the workforce forms the backbone of the healthcare system."

MY DREAM BUDGET
HEALTH

To address growing demands, the government should prioritize expanding medical education, enhance training facilities and offer incentives to attract and retain skilled healthcare professionals. This includes not only doctors but also nurses, paramedics and support staff, he said.

The focus should be on comprehensive access to telehealth services, including formulating guidelines and ensuring accessibility and affordability. Furthermore, there must be efforts to foster an environment supportive of medical research by providing grants and incentives for significant discoveries. Investments should also be made in electronic health records and interoperability standards, Dr Jawali added.

Acknowledging the same, Sandesh Cadabam, managing director of Cadabams Group, said, "The state government should prioritize investing in mental healthcare infrastructure and accessibility in the upcoming budget, given the current inadequate allocation for mental health funding.

Making mental healthcare services accessible and affordable for all is crucial. This entails broadening insurance coverage for mental health treatment, augmenting the mental health workforce and establishing additional community-based mental health centres, he added.

The budget should designate specific funds for the establishment of new mental health facilities, upgrading of existing ones and training of mental health professionals, particularly in tier II and III cities, Sandesh Cadabam said.

Dr Narayanaswamy, paediatric expert and founder of Athreya Hospital said, "Although the previous budget made progress in healthcare, including allocations for medical colleges and hospitals, as well as plans for an organ assembly hospital, significant challenges persist in terms of accessibility, affordability and infrastructure, especially in tier II and III cities."

Highlighting healthcare infrastructure and access in rural and underserved regions, Dr Narayanaswamy emphasized the need for increased budgetary allocation for paediatric healthcare programmes, including initiatives to address malnutrition, improve immunization coverage and establish dedicated Paediatric Intensive Care Units (PICUs) in major hospitals across the state.

Strengthening preventive and public health initiatives is crucial to tackling the growing burden of chronic diseases, Dr Narayanaswamy said, and urged the government to invest in programmes that promote healthy lifestyles, early detection and disease management, with a special focus on vulnerable populations.

Customs clears equipment, first driverless train reaches city

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A GOOD 21 days after six coaches of Bengaluru Metro's first driverless train were dispatched from Shanghai port, they entered the city in the wee hours of Wednesday. With Customs at Chennai port delaying clearance for crucial equipment required to lift the coaches, entry into Bengaluru was deferred to Thursday. However, clearance came through by 8pm Tuesday, ensuring the journey was advanced.

The spreader beam which got delayed clearance from Chennai Port | EXPRESS

The coaches (communication based train control) began their trip on MV Spring Mota on January 24 from Shanghai port. They reached Chennai on February 6, and were cleared by Customs at Chennai port on February 10. "The coaches, each weighing 38.7 tonnes, began their journey the same night towards Bengaluru," said a representative of Unitrans Shipping and Trading Pvt Limited, the shipping firm working for the Chinese company CRRC Nanjing Puzhen Co.

The coaches, carried on trailers, could travel only at night as there is restriction on day time movement for heavy vehicles. They stopped over on three nights at Kanchipuram, Vellore and Krishnagiri.

"We will start before midnight on Tuesday and expect to reach Bengaluru in the wee hours of Wednesday," said Kesav S, operations in-charge of freight forwarder Total Movements Private Limited. "The trailers travel at an average speed of 25-30km an hour," he added. A senior BMRCL official said the coaches were expected to reach Hebbagodi depot by 3am.

However, the driverless train which has run into numerous issues in the past, including a lengthy delay in issue of visas to engineers from China, encountered one last problem. "The Spreader Beam, which was sent with the coaches, was not given clearance by Customs at Chennai port. The coaches left, and it was awaiting the green signal. It is critical to lift the coaches, and cannot be manufactured locally as it is specifically made for those coaches," explained a source. The Spreader Beam is a long bar that holds two slings. It is designed to convert lifting loads into pure compressive force, facilitating lifting of large loads.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

14TH February: I need to say a little about the nature of Full Moons. One fascinating thing about this event is that men respond to it differently from women. This opens the possibility that the cosmos is, in some strange way, conditioned to favour different sexes at alternating periods. I think we need to do further research!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Moon introduces a joyful and optimistic note to the day's proceedings, but the angle between the Sun and Neptune is still pushing you towards unrealistic hopes and expectations. It may be best to keep your more ambitious plans under wraps for now, at least until you've sounded out the opposition.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Friends and relations do love an argument from time to time. The problem is that nobody has got their facts straight, perhaps not even you! However, you can exert a restraining influence on intemperate colleagues, presenting them with the facts whether they like them or not.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
The Moon offers a series of opportunities, but you don't have to take them! In other words, promises may not be translated into action. You should probably make more effort to seize the initiative and compensate for other people's unwillingness to get to grips with practical tasks.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
You are responsible for your own success. Every current opportunity stems from events which took place six months ago. Those of you with long memories will realise that current stress levels date back even further. It's time to smile and get on with positive plans.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Your purpose is to maintain the peace. Arguments and disputes can be avoided. Quite frankly, this is one of those times when people who have no self-control create havoc but individuals with a mission to fulfil will make great strides. Hopefully, that includes you.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Although the Sun is advising you to clinch deals, build your future prosperity and feather your own nest, Mercury is about to focus your attention on higher matters, making you wonder whether it is right to be so self-interested. Perhaps you should aid other people before helping yourself.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The choice is yours but, if you know what's good for you, you'll continue to stick to principles over cash and career matters. Compromise and flexibility are all very well, but you don't want to be pushed completely off course. Other people need to know that you really do mean business.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Some offers have seemed irresistible, but perhaps you were right to hold out for better terms. In a sense, it's your attitude that counts more than the outcome. This is because what this current period is all about is personal growth and self-understanding rather than material benefit.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Loved ones or close companions may be unreasonable, but there are ways to escape from emotional tension. What you can do, is make a conscious decision to treat all differences of opinion in a mature, calm and rational manner - and never lose your cool.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Mercury, the planet of the mind and all forms of communication, is gradually altering its position for the better. All those differences of opinion at home should become less important, and you'll soon find it easier to put your ideas across in other related areas.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Your natural intuitive abilities are in excellent working order but, to feel their benefit, you need to banish all that mental clutter and allow your mind to relax. Only then will important hunches and long-term dreams succeed in attracting your attention.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's a moment to watch, wait and listen. The point is that the correct behaviour depends on exact timing, and you will instinctively know when it is right to spring into action. Meanwhile, family responsibilities and domestic duties keep you busy.

2 pitbulls attack bizman, case against owners

Incident occurs on victim's farm in Varthur, dogs belong to two tenants who also reside on same property

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 49-year-old man suffered severe injuries after being attacked by two pitbulls in Varthur. The dogs bit him 20 times on the legs and one bite is almost 6 cm deep due to which the calf muscles have been torn. The victim, identified as B Chandrashekar, is a resident of Balagere in Varthur. He is currently undergoing treatment.

The incident happened at the victim's farm on Balagere Road opposite the government school, on February 6. A police complaint was filed on Saturday, against Srinivasa and Munesh, residing in a rented house on the farm.

'Dangerous pets'

Speaking to The New Indian Express, Chandrashekar said he had warned the two dog owners not to keep such dangerous pets. Since it is a joint property, the victim's uncle had rented out a house on the farm to the owners of the dogs.

Chandrashekar, a businessman, said that of the two dogs, one was male and the other a female. "On my right leg, one bite is almost 6 cm deep and the muscle is torn. I am undergoing treatment in a private hospital on Balagere Road. Since I keep visiting the farm with my family, I had told the dogs owners to chain them. But the accused did not adhere. While I was assisting the person who had come to pluck coconuts, the dogs came from behind and attacked me. After I started screaming for help, the owners rushed and pulled the animals away. I am bedridden and recovering. Luckily, my son who was at a distance was not attacked. I have filed a police complaint," the victim added.

The police have recorded the statements of the victim and registered a case against Srinivasa and Munesh for negligent conduct with respect to animals (IPC Section 289).

Further investigations are under way.

Mysuru, Nandi Hills top weekend getaway spots for B'lureans: Aggregator

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

UBER released its annual travel index 'Riding with Intercity', encapsulating key trends linked to outstation travel in India, on Tuesday.

Indians made the most of their weekends by taking to travel - as most intercity trips were booked on Saturdays, followed by Sundays and Fridays, signalling a clear trend highlighting weekend outstation travel, a release stated.

"2023 saw the highest ever intercity trips booked on the Uber platform, buoyed by a sharp rise in leisure and religious travel in the country, and backed by marked improvement in road infrastructure. The rapid pace of development of the national and state highway networks in India over the past few years has significantly reduced travel times, while also making road commutes more comfortable. These factors resulted in a trend where more people have been opting to cover longer distances by road," the release added.

As per the report, Bengalureans chose Mysuru and Nandi Hills as their favourite weekend getaway spots while Mumbai-Pune, Delhi-Agra and Bengaluru-Kolar were the top 3 intercity routes in India.

CENTRE'S ₹29/KG RICE SCHEME WILL MAKE COUNTRY BANKRUPT: MINISTER

- Muniyappa says FCI buying foodgrain at ₹38-40 per kg, but selling it at much lower price
- Opposition BJP slams ruling Congress government over alleged lack of law and order in the state

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FOOD and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa on Tuesday said the Union government's initiative to sell rice at Rs 29 per kg will push the country to bankruptcy as it is incurring a loss of Rs 20 per kg.

He accused the Centre of launching the rice scheme for publicity, while not giving rice to the state government's "Anna Bhagya" scheme. He was responding to BJP member N Ravi Kumar's question on the state government's failure to implement the "Anna Bhagya' scheme and a report on the death of a person because of hunger. Muniyappa clarified that no deaths have been reported due to hunger. If the Council member provides specific information, the government will look into it, he added.

He said the Food Corporation of India (FCI) rejected the state government's request for 5 kg additional rice to supply to beneficiaries of "Anna Bhagya" scheme. The government is trying to procure the required quantity of rice from other states, but the price is more than the FCI rate. The government is now giving money instead of 5 kg of rice to all beneficiaries, he said.

For the Central government's "Bharat brand" of rice that is being sold at Rs 29 per kg, FCI is procuring the foodgrain at Rs 38-40 per kg from Telangana, Andhra Pradesh and other states. They have distributed 60 lakh metric tonnes to NAFED (National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation of India Ltd), NCCF (The National Cooperative Consumers Federation of India Limited), and Kendriya Bhandar at Rs 19 kg. These organisations will process it and sell it at Rs 29 per kg. The Union government is incurring a loss of Rs 20 per kg, while crores of rupees are being spent to publicise the scheme. "It will push the country to bankruptcy," he warned.

Liquor sold illegally at houses, excise officials hand in glove, say BJP MLAs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

OPPOSITION BJP MLAs on Tuesday raised the issue of liquor being sold illegally in villages across the state, but excise officials kept mum. "A big liquor mafia is operating in the state and the government should take action," BJP members demanded.

During the question hour, Doddaballapur MLA Dheeraj Muniraju said, "We are close to the Andhra border and sendi (local liquor) is bought there and sold here. We have filed 132 cases against 150 people."

He said every liquor shop/bar across the state has CCTV cameras fixed by the Excise Department. Despite that, liquor is bought in large quantities and sold illegally at houses, though the rule states that one cannot buy more than 2.3 litres of liquor, he added.

The illegal business is thriving because Excise officials are pressuring shops and bars to sell more, and they are selling it to houses illegally, he alleged. "At a village in my constituency, 14 youth aged between 28 and 40 have died due to liver failure because of high liquor consumption in two years. Excise officials, who are hand in glove with the liquor mafia, are allowing the illegal sale of liquor at houses. Action should be taken," he said.

Leader of Opposition R Ashoka said it is happening at every village, but Excise officials have not seized any liquor from houses.

Former home minister Araga Jnanendra said, "It is not difficult to track. When bottles are seized from these houses, batch numbers on them will lead to respective bars and then action can be taken against them."

Excise Minister Timmapur said they will take action.

GIVE 5 MONTHS TO ELIMINATE BOGUS LABOUR CARDS: LAD

BENGALURU: Labour minister Santosh Lad on Tuesday appealed to the Assembly to give him five months to cleanse the system and remove bogus labour cards. BJP MLA Siddu Savadi said those who have the labour card get Rs 2 lakh subsidy to construct a house. But many are not getting it. Lad told the House that when he was labour minister the previous term, the state had 12 lakh registered labourers. But now, the number has increased to 54 lakh, of which seven lakh cards were deleted as they were bogus. Every district has 2-2.5 lakh card holders and 60-70 per cent of them are bogus. "If we make rules strict, trade unions question us. If we don't, we end up with more bogus cards. Everyone has a card. But if you ask them where you construct a house or who is your mestri, they have no answers. If we don't check, those who are genuinely in need will be deprived," he said. In Haveri district, of 3 lakh card holders, 2.7 lakh are bogus as per a recent social audit. The situation is similar in other places too. The department needs time to root this out, he said. ENS

It's 'goonda raj' in state, alleges BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

OPPOSITION BJP members created a ruckus in the Assembly on Tuesday over alleged deterioration of law and order situation in the state and termed it "Goonda Raj". Ever since Congress came to power, more murders and assaults on women have occurred, they charged.

Soon after the session began, even before the question hour, BJP members raised the issue and demanded that Speaker UT Khader allow them to discuss the issue.

Leader of Opposition R Ashoka mentioned the gang rape at Haveri, assault on a woman in Belagavi, rowdy menace in Shivamogga and removal of Bhagawa Dhwaja in Mandya to prove his point. Cybercrimes too have gone up, he added.

An irritated Home Minister G Parameshwara replied, "The discussion should include the law and order situation during your time too. There were many murders, assaults and other crimes then."

Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) Minister Priyank Kharge said let there be a discussion on scams, including Bitcoin. "Your party government arrested our farmers in Madhya Pradesh. Are you not concerned with this? Is your issue that urgent," he asked.

Former minister Sunil Kumar told Khader that they came to the House at 9 am to submit the notice asking him to allow a discussion on the issue. Khader said that JDS MLAs, however, had submitted a notice for a discussion on coconut prices before the submission by BJP members. "I cannot allow two notices on one day. Let BJP members submit it on Wednesday, I will allow it," he said.

There was chaos for a while in the House.

Bill for 60% Kannada name boards tabled in Assembly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Kannada Language Comprehensive Development (Amendment) Bill 2024 was tabled in the Legislative Assembly on Tuesday.

The bill mandates 60% of text on name boards of all business and industrial establishments to be in Kannada.

According to the proposed amendment, shops and other business establishments, trusts, counseling centres, hospitals, laboratories, and amusement centres functioning with the approval of local authorities or the state government should ensure that their name boards display 60% of text in Kannada.

The bill stated that it is necessary to amend the Act to appoint officials to ensure prominence to Kannada language. It is considered necessary to amend the Act to appoint the director, Directorate of Kannada and Culture, as the member and the secretary of the Kannada Development Authority as the convener of the state-level committee and to make a provision that the upper half of the name boards display 60% Kannada text, the bill said.

Earlier, the government issued an ordinance in this regard and sent it to the governor for approval. But the governor sent the ordinance back to the government, asking it to present the Bill in the state legislature.

'Last yr, K'taka saw ₹48k crore in investments'

ENS @Bengaluru

INDUSTRIES Minister MB Patil informed the State Legislative Council that in the last year, Karnataka got investments to the tune of Rs 48,000 crore and generated employment for 58,000 people.

Responding to BJP member S Keshav Prasad's question seeking information about investments and employment generation in the state in 2023, Patil said of 241 projects that have been cleared in the single window system during 2023-24, most of them have been taken outside Bengaluru as part of the 'Beyond Bengaluru' initiative. While 24 projects will be located in the state capital, the remaining 217 projects with an investment of Rs 28,488 crore will be located in other districts, especially in North Karnataka, he said.

Patil also said in the last year, they have signed 12 MoUs for investments, of which, the State High-Level Clearance Committee (SHLCC) has cleared two projects, and the remaining will be cleared soon. The MoU for investments to the tune of Rs 71,496 crore will create employment for 70,950 people, he said, adding that the government has constituted Vision Groups consisting of industry experts to help the government attract investments.

The BJP MLC, however, was not satisfied with the minister's response, which he termed as unclear and unspecific. Prasad said SHLCC clearing just two out of 12 MoUs amounts to just 16.66%. The minister explained the processes involved in clearing the projects and assured the members of the Upper House that the government is taking several measures to attract investments and generate employment.

Govt's 'baseless claims' to hide own failures, says Joshi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

UNION minister Pralhad Joshi accused the Congress government of making baseless allegations against the Centre to divert attention from the internal rift between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, and the state government's failure to implement its guarantee schemes.

The minister said the state Congress leaders' allegations of disparity in the release of funds are baseless. In Karnataka, 38 per cent of the budget is still unspent in mid-February and they only show the accounts in March, he said, adding that in the Centre, the PM holds meetings every month to review the status.

The Union minister said 34 per cent (Rs 5,727 crore) of the funds allocated for various centrally-sponsored projects remain unspent and this information was from the state government's dashboard. The money given by the Centre to the state agriculture department and various other departments was also not properly spent, he said.

Joshi said they have given more funds to the state under the NDRF, compared to the UPA government. He said the Finance Commissions have their parameters, and in 2016-17, when the Finance Commission officials visited the state, the Siddaramaiah government failed to do its job by convincing them by providing adequate information.

In the last 10 years of the Narendra Modi government, the grant amount released to the state so far is Rs 2.36 lakh crore, and there is still one quarter remaining. He said the state got Rs 2.85 lakh crore in tax devolution in the last decade.

The minister accused Siddaramaiah of engaging in false propaganda against the Centre.

Prajwal case: SC defers judgment to February 20

BR UDAYA KUMAR @Hassan

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday deferred the judgment related to the case of Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna allegedly filing a false election affidavit, to February 20. It may be recalled that Prajwal had approached the Supreme Court after the Karnataka High Court had disqualified him in the same case filed by one advocate Devarajegowda, also a BJP leader from Holenarasipur, recently. The apex court had stayed the Karnataka HC order disqualifying Prajwal.

Prajwal is the son of former minister Revanna and grandson of former PM HD Deve Gowda.

The SC had earlier reserved the final judgment for January 19 after hearing the petition of both Prajwal and Devarajegowda. On February 13, the apex court postponed the judgment to February 20. Meanwhile, Prajwal said that he is confident of getting justice and that nobody is above the law.

WILL CONTINUE TO FIGHT LEGALLY: SHIVAKUMAR

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said he will continue with his legal battle in cases registered against him.

Responding to queries on the Lokayukta police registering an FIR against him, the DCM said the same has been registered in a disproportionate assets case and he will continue the legal battle.

"I have not done anything wrong. The then Advocate General had stated that my case cannot be given to CBI. I obtained that document under the Right to Information Act. The Yediyurappa government's decision to hand over the case to CBI was a mistake," he said. The DCM said the Congress government has withdrawn the permission accorded for the CBI probe and referred the case to the Lokayukta.

Even after the government withdrew the permission given to the CBI to probe the case, the Central agency is issuing notices to his institutions and also those doing business with him. "They are giving hundreds of notices, and I do not know why they are giving them," he said.

IN its petition challenging the withdrawal of consent and transfer of investigation, the CBI contended that the state government had illegally transferred its FIR to the Lokayukta police. In any case, the consent given to it cannot be withdrawn with retrospective effect.

A single judge had referred the pleas of the CBI and Yatnal to the Chief Justice to constitute a larger bench to take decisions on them. While doing so on January 5, the single judge heard the submission of advocates appearing for the CBI and Yatnal and observed that till a decision is taken on the matter, the Lokayukta police should not commence any investigation. The single judge also took note of a similar submission by the AG that even the CBI should be asked to halt its investigation. However, this aspect is left to the consideration of the 'Bench in the Making', the single judge stated.

On the reason for the FIR now when the petitions challenging legality of withdrawal of consent and transferring the case to Lokayukta police are being heard by the HC, Lokayukta sources said the court has not stopped them from registering it.

After SC prodding, Centre agrees to hear Kerala

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Tuesday informed the Supreme Court that it was open to a dialogue with the Kerala government to resolve the dispute over the lowered borrowing limit imposed on the state, which is in need of around ₹26,000 crore urgent cash to meet its financial obligations.

The commitment came after a prodding by a bench of judges Surya Kant and K V Viswanathan that Kerala's finance secretary and the Union finance minister meet and try to break the deadlock through negotiation. "We are not asking for tinkering with fiscal policy and we know that you cannot take decision only for one state.

But we also think that you being the Union, the cordiality is one thing that will work for the country," the bench observed.

Attorney General R Venkataramani said: "The suggestion falling from the court has received highest regard that it deserves. The government is open to a meeting. Let's keep it open without conditions."

Senior lawyer Kapil Sibal, appearing for Kerala, said the state would send a delegation to negotiate with the Centre.

The development came when the bench was hearing the Kerala government's plea seeking interim relief.

Earlier, in a note to the SC, the Centre had said the state was indulging in 'reckless borrowing' to finance unproductive expenditure and poorly targeted subsidies. The court posted the matter for February 19.

KERALA FM BALAGOPAL-LED DELEGATION TO HOLD TALKS WITH CENTRE TOMORROW

T'Puram: A four-member delegation led by Kerala Finance Minister KN Balagopal, will hold talks with the Union government in Delhi on Thursday over the latter's restrictions on the state's borrowing limits. The move comes pursuant to the Supreme Court's order on the state government's plea for interim relief in its suit against the Centre. The state has informed the SC about its willingness to hold discussions with Union government representatives.

XPoSat views Crab pulsar, records crucial data for first time

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Indian X-ray Polarimeter (POLIX), onboard India's maiden X-ray polarimetry mission–XPoSat, one month after its launch has commenced its scientific observations, and has started generating data on the Crab Pulsar. The pulse profile is generated from the observations carried out by POLIX during January 15-18, 2024. The Crab Pulsar is a pulsating star, residing near the centre of the Crab Nebula and spins about its axis approximately 30 times per second, the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) said in a statement on Tuesday.

"This initial observation is a significant milestone for POLIX, showcasing its functionality and readiness for investigating pulsars, black holes, and other astronomical sources. As the sole payload offering data in this energy band, POLIX is poised to offer unique insights and contribute to understanding the physical processes associated with Astronomical X-ray sources," added the statement.

The POLIX payload was activated in two stages by January 10, 2024, and initial scan observations were conducted around the Crab Pulsar, the intended first target. The data plotted was collected during January 15-18, 2024, and thoroughly reviewed for confirmation. Scientists affirmed that the data aligned with its expectations.

The payload was designed and developed by the X-ray Astronomy Laboratory at Raman Research Institute in Bengaluru. The instrument is built indigenously with the support from Indian industry.

"The plot also has the timing of non-pulsed emission components from the Pulsar Wind Nebula surrounding the Pulsar. The time window facilitates determining the X-rays emitted from the pulsar (but not from the wind nebula). The polarization of X-rays from the source is detectable as the degree of asymmetry in the scattering of X-rays in the instrument depends on the polarization of the incoming X-rays," explained ISRO.

The other instrument, XSPECT, onboard XPoSat, is also ready for observations.

ASHA workers to get Rs 7K direct credit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

HEALTH Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao met Accredited Social Health Activists (ASHA) who are protesting at Freedom Park, and assured them that the government would ensure direct credit of Rs. 7,000 to their bank accounts, instead of the existing Rs 5,000. He requested them to withdraw the protest.

However, the ASHA workers have decided to continue their protest, demanding the intervention of the chief minister. Alleging that 50 per cent of the ASHA workers in the state were not getting payment for work done, they demanded delinking of the Reproductive and Child Health (RCH) portal from the payment process, and Rs 15,000 as fixed honorarium.

The minister assured them of direct transfer of Rs 7,000 (existing Rs 5,000 honorarium and Rs 2,000 Non-MCTS (Mother and Child Tracking System) together) and said the government is developing software which helps ASHAs to upload their activities themselves, and keep track of the incentives they are entitled to.

"It will make the payment system more transparent," he said, adding that he would discuss with the chief minister about providing fixed honorarium.

Stating that the health minister's assurances didn't meet their demands, the workers decided to continue their protest. Their other demands are to stop insisting on mobile-based work and work without incentive, to consider ASHAs as workers and provide minimum wages, PF, ESI, gratuity benefits, increase honorarium by Rs 2,000 to ASHAs working in cities, etc.

Cong leaders demand fact-finding committee to probe Gerosa case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

SENIOR Congress leaders B Ramanath Rai and Vinaykumar Sorake have urged the state government to set up a fact-finding committee to probe the entire episode of Gerosa school incident where a teacher was accused of making derogatory statements against Hindu religion and its gods and the subsequent protest by BJP and Sangh Pariwar which led to the sacking of the teacher.

A delegation of Congress leaders led by Rai and Sorake on Tuesday visited Gerosa school and spoke to its management. "Facts should come out. The incident was a threat to the communal harmony of the district. Our intention is to uphold communal harmony. Some people take advantage of problems, but our party is not like that. The responsibility of building a beautiful society lies with all and right and wrong should be discussed. We will press the government to set up a fact finding committee led by senior officials of the education department," he said.

Rai urged to probe everything including the statements of students and the misuse of students' statements by politicians. The action should prevent recurrence of such incidents in future.

Rai said it was the responsibility of the education department to immediately interfere in such school matters and resolve it. KPCC spokesperson Farzana said it should be condemned if the teacher has made any objectionable remarks against any religion, but in this case, there is no accurate information to blame the teacher. However, the incidents that took place on Monday has made the society hang its head in shame. She took objection to the BJP leaders exhorting school students to raise slogans like 'Jai Sri Ram'.

Congress leaders JR Lobo, Mamata Gatti, Shashidhar Hegde, Shahul Hameed, Shalet Pinto and others were present.

6k saplings planted to mitigate climate change

Bengaluru: In an effort to combat climate change and encourage environment sustainability, the Centre for Environment Education (CEE), Ahmedabad, partnered with EPAM, a global digital platform to organise a tree plantation programme- 'Trees for Tomorrow,' across five EPAM office locations in India- Bengaluru, Chennai, Gurgaon, Hyderabad, and Pune. In Bengaluru, 1,200 saplings of species originating from the Western Ghats, listed in the IUCN, were planted in the Forest Tree Park. In Hyderabad, a reserve forest was chosen for the plantation of 2,100 saplings of diverse forest species, contributing to the preservation of the region's natural habitat. The initiative also sought to engage educational institutions. 1,500 saplings were planted in Pune, to create a butterfly garden and facilitate environmental education in schools and colleges. In Gurgaon, 600 saplings were strategically planted in the premises of a Government Women's College, to combat pollution and contribute to the local ecology, considering Gurgaon's susceptibility to air pollution. In Chennai, 600 saplings with higher water-holding capacity were planted in a park to address the region's susceptibility to floods.

MEMU train sent to Ayodhya, Kolar pax wait

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

EVEN as commuters between Kolar and Bengaluru and adjacent areas are desperate for electric trains, it has just come to light that one such rake has been dispatched to Ayodhya recently by the Bengaluru Railway Division on request. It has not yet been returned. The response to an RTI by the South Western Railway Zone cited a shortage of rakes and terminal constraints at Kolar.

With electrification fully complete in 149 km between Yelahanka and Bangarpet via Kolar seven months ago, commuters demand the diesel trains operated presently be replaced with electric ones so that more passengers can be accommodated and the travel time is reduced.

Electric trains run from Bengaluru up to Chikkaballapura but not beyond that despite the section being fully electrified.

A reliable Railway source told TNIE, "We do not have enough Mainline Electric Multiple Unit (MEMU) trains to run along this new stretch. Moreover, a rake was dispatched to Ayodhya recently. We could have used it and run at least 2-3 onward and return trips a day. Even that is not possible now."

He added that rake shortage is not the only reason. "We also suffer from staff shortage. If we launch MEMU trains, we need more staff at Kolar railway station to manage them and to safeguard electrical equipment too. No recruitment too is happening as of now," he said.

An RTI application filed by Chintamani-based railway activist Amruth Gowda seeking the reasons for the delay in introducing MEMUs received a response from SWR on February 7. "There is an acute shortage of MEMU rakes. There are terminal constraints in Kolar. Chikkaballapura-Kolar is a single-line section. Hence, the extension of MEMU trains terminating at Chikkaballapura to Kolar is not feasible," the reply stated.

IT professionals and students are among those who commute to Yelahanka from Kolar. Many are upset over this delay in introducing MEMUs, said a member of the Chikkaballapura-Kolar Rail Users Association U Yadhukrishna.

"Four DEMU train pairs are running along this stretch. They start at KSR Bengaluru or Yelahanka or Kolar and one train even runs till Hassan. Many commuters do not get seating space for the journey from Kolar to Bengaluru which lasts over 3 hours and are exhausted by the time they reach their workplace. A DEMU has eight coaches and can accommodate only a maximum of 800 passengers while comparatively, a 16-coach MEMU can easily seat over 1,000 passengers, and save the public considerable time," Yadhukrishna explained.

Passengers are unable to get seats in the DEMU trains presently operational between Bengaluru and Kolar

India to host Bird-a-thon this weekend

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE world's biggest Bird-a-thon, the annual Great Backyard Bird Count (GBBC), will be held in India from February 16-19, where more than a thousand birdwatchers across the country will come together to document birds sighted in various locations, including their backyard.

Last year, over a lakh birdwatchers globally participated in the GBBC, and India had ranked as the second-highest contributing country. It also recorded the discovery of the highest number of bird species. In 2024, India secured third position for the number of bird species reported, closely followed by Colombia and Ecuador.

Comment on Hyd as joint capital creates stir

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Visakhapatnam

YSRC's North Andhra regional coordinator YV Subba Reddy on Tuesday created a flutter with his remarks on the contentious capital issue. He said that Hyderabad should continue as common capital of Andhra Pradesh and Telangana for some more time. The remarks assume significance as the 10 year period for which Hyderabad was made the common capital is coming to an end in June this year.

Speaking to reporters here, Subba Reddy said, "The previous TDP government in its five year tenure could only construct a temporary capital. The YSRC had proposed that the already developed city of Visakhapatnam be made the executive capital.''

He said that the pitch of an executive capital could not be taken forward. We are trying to overcome the legal issues, he said, and added that till the issue of a capital is resolved they are considering to continue with Hyderabad as a common capital.

He added that YSRC president YS Jagan Mohan Reddy will hold discussions with the party leaders and make a statement after the elections.

His comments drew sharp criticism from TDP and BJP leaders. Former minister Bandaru Satyanarayana Murthy said, "YSRC government had whiled away its time in the last five years."

DRDO, AIIMS WILL SIGN MoU TO CREATE UNIQUE DATABASE

HEMANT KUMAR ROUT @ Bhubaneswar

THE Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) is set to collaborate with all 18 AIIMS in the country to prepare a unique database of the Indian population in terms of their susceptibility to different environmental conditions. Currently, there is no authentic data on the Indian population on several regards, be it confirmatory or certain physiological aspects. The population database is essential for designing the defence equipment for the armed forces. Initial discussion with AIIMS, Bhubaneswar is already over.

The institute will collaborate with the country's elite defence organisation for research on heat stress susceptibility factors, which play a significant role in the entire deployment cycle in adverse weather conditions. Heat stress and/or environmental extremes of heat and humidity, presents a perennial challenge to military personnel. The consequences of inadequate heat adaptation turn fatal and increase susceptibility to military hazards, including combat.

"DRDO and AIIMS will be working on a project called Viswakarma," a senior scientist of Defence Institute of Physiology and Allied Sciences (DIPAS). He, however, refused to divulge the kind of data they will collect from the premier medical institutions for the study. With the Atmanirbhar Bharat initiative going on, the scientist said, most of the military technologies are being developed indigenously. The collaboration will help generate the data to prepare the state-of-the-art platform, he said.

Replying to Bellad, Shivakumar said the private tanker operators have their own borewells. Shivakumar said the water tariff in the city has not been revised in the past 11 years. "Although other utilities, including Bescom, have revised tariffs several times since 2013, the BWSSB hasn't. This is due to various reasons, including political," he added.

Sri Lanka issues temp travel documents to Rajiv case convict

R SIVAKUMAR @ Chennai

THE state government on Tuesday told the Madras High Court that the Sri Lankan government has issued temporary travel documents to Santhan alias T Suthenthiraraja, one of the convicts in the former PM Rajiv Gandhi assassination case who was released from jail along with five others in 2022 as per an order of the Supreme Court, to travel back to the island nation.

Additional Public Prosecutor R Munyiapparaj made the submission before a division bench of Justices R Suresh Kumar and K Kumaresh Babu when a petition filed by Santhan seeking orders to facilitate his travel back to his native country came up for hearing. Santhan is currently held in the high security detention camp for foreigners in Tiruchy.

"The Sri Lankan deputy high commission has sent the temporary travel documents to the Tamil Nadu government on February 2, 2024. These documents were forwarded to the Foreigners Regional Registration Officer on February 9 requesting him to take necessary action for issuance of emergency travel document," he told the court. The temporary travel documents are valid till August 1, 2024.

Additional Solicitor General ARL Sundaresan, appearing for the Ministry of External Affairs, said the state government's letter has not yet reached FRRO Chennai.

"As and when it is received by the FRRO office, it will be processed for issuance of exit order and it may take two weeks time," the ASG told the court.

Recording his submission, the court directed the centre to file a report on the matter and adjourned the hearing to February 29.

FARMERS' STIR POINTS TO LARGER ISSUE OF INADEQUATE PRICES

JUST when one thought that the BJP had everything sewn up—a groundswell of support for the Ram mandir at Ayodhya and numerous defections from the INDIA bloc—the farmers from Punjab and Haryana are on the move again, threatening to upset the government's pre-poll calculations. The 'Dilli Chalo' march of over 200 farmer unions from Punjab is winding its way to the capital after talks with a trio of ministers broke down. Confrontation is in the air as the government has taken a hard line, preparing for security at Delhi's borders with razor wires, tear gas and drones. It is apparent that an overhang of issues had been left to simmer even after the government withdrew the three farm laws in November 2021.

The farm laws came under unrelenting attack as they aimed to bypass the mandi system guaranteeing basic price support and farm loans in preference of a 'free market' for buying agricultural produce. Farmers feared that a creeping corporatisation by strong financial groups would leave them defenceless. The focus of the current agitation is to bring in legislation to support minimum support prices (MSP). The farmers' leaders say this should be in line with the Swaminathan Commission report that recommended MSP should be raised to at least 50 percent above the weighted average cost of production. Though M S Swaminathan has been posthumously awarded the Bharat Ratna, the core of his farm formula is yet to be implemented.

The demands also include debt waiver for farmers and labourers, as well as improvement in the rural jobs guarantee scheme. What these demands point to is that India's agriculture sector is gripped by a crisis of unremunerative prices. It is not a new discovery. Shetkari Sanghatna leader Sharad Joshi in 1979 framed it as an 'India versus Bharat' contradiction where, he said, 'rural Bharat' was being exploited by the richer 'urban India' by artificially suppressing farm prices. Significantly, unremunerative prices have now become an international problem as farmers are also jamming European cities with their tractors. Government spokespersons are dismissing the agitation as another attempt to drum up anti-government sentiment among rural folk. The farmers' leaders, on their part, are acutely aware that the best chance of getting results is now: before the Lok Sabha elections. To avoid a repeat of 2021, a negotiated settlement before the battlelines harden would be the best course.

ODISHA VET STRIKE NEEDS GOVT INTERVENTION

ANIMAL care services in Odisha are in the middle of an escalating crisis, with veterinary doctors on mass leave for more than three weeks. Dispensaries have been almost shut, emergency services stand crippled, while operations of critical facilities under the various wings of the state's fisheries and animal resources development department are in limbo. If unofficial reports are to be believed, over 9,000 animals have died in the absence of care during this period. So far as the plight of farmers, commercial farms as well as pet owners is concerned, the lesser said the better. For the dairy and poultry sectors in rural areas, the livelihood of lakhs is at stake.

Veterinary doctors have been seeking better avenues for promotion through cadre restructuring, a non-practice allowance which is prevalent in many other states apart from better diagnostic services at district-levels, round-the-clock service for farmers, and an overhaul of the animal resources department, which clearly needs more attention. Yet, the Naveen Patnaik government has not budged. The only meeting with the government the agitating veterinarians could manage after 25 days of strike was on Monday, which ended without a result. The veterinarians' community feels it has been short-changed. Would the government have adopted a similar stoic stand had it been the general doctors or other medical practitioners? Even when private bus operators called for a strike two months back, the state administration was in a frenzy to sort it out. Why this discrimination?

Odisha's livestock population stands at 1.8 crore (large and small animals), and there are just 1,340-odd veterinary doctors to serve them. Close to 40 percent of them are engaged in various schematic programmes and so are not on field duty for treatment and care. In plain words, there is just one vet available for about 22,000 animals; then there are birds too, which need care. The livestock sector's share in the state's gross value added is 3.37 percent, while its annual growth tops other primary sectors. For the small and marginal farmers, who constitute 90 percent of the farming community, these animals bring in additional income. It is surprising the government has remained unmoved by the agitation for such a long time despite being aware of its far-reaching consequences. It would be prudent to hold discussions and end the stalemate at the earliest.

QUICK TAKE

STEP UP FOR CULTURE FUND

THE National Culture Fund has nurtured institutions big and small since its launch in 1996. It supports cultural organisations to upgrade facilities, stage productions and promote intangible heritage. Though the total payouts are meagre—₹68.79 crore in 2021-22 and ₹71.19 crore in 2022-23—it has helped several organisations stay afloat through troubled times. Last week, the culture ministry stressed it would prioritise projects that are financed through public-private partnerships. Despite tax incentives, the fund received a paltry ₹3.70 crore from non-government sources in the five years to 2022-23. It is time for Indian companies and citizens who feel proud about India's cultural heritage to put more money where their heart is.

Sociologist Jit Uberoi inspired generations with his eccentric ideas. His work critiqued the West. But, like Gandhi, he also tried to rescue its ideas through cognitive playfulness

A PROFESSOR WHO CHAMPIONED PLAYFUL PLURALITY

SHIV VISVANATHAN

Social scientist associated with the Compost Heap, a group researching alternative imaginations

SOURAV ROY

JIT Uberoi, professor of sociology at the Delhi School of Economics, died a fortnight ago. This small tribute is for a man who increased the availability of eccentricity for all of us. Jit defined the university as a place that made eccentricity possible. In many ways, he was difficult to describe. I remember when he was head of the department, a senior professor complained that he hadn't responded to his letters. Jitendra Pal Singh Uberoi or JPS said, "I only reply to the interesting ones." Yet, JPS cared. I remember, after a cyclone hit the university, Jit worked for weeks making sure that Sikhri, an office manager who had been swept away, was reasonably compensated.

When moved, Jit could cackle like a housewife over a piece of gossip. He had an enormous range of interests—from semiotics and consumption to the city. He would walk around Kamala Nagar providing a discourse on modernity centred on the model Katy Mirza. Sociology, Jit felt, allowed the unexpected in storytelling. As a storyteller, he was unparalleled. His lectures were equally deep.

I remember, one lazy afternoon we were sitting in an empty classroom. There were remnants of the previous lecture on the board, a few dog-eaten triangles. Jit was chewing on it. "This faded triangle," he said, "captures the power of the enlightenment. It signifies the slogan of the French revolution: liberty, equality and fraternity." He quickly added, "The West is stronger on the first two. The dog-eared part of western theory is fraternity." The West was poor on difference and plurality. The farthest it could go was tolerance. And tolerance was a reluctant coexistence with labour. The other really had no place in the theory of plurality. He added: this is where India could add to theory by providing a culture that celebrated difference.

Jit often tried to compare the Bhakti movement and the Enlightenment. The Bhakti movement's genius laid in its skill of blending the cosmopolitan and the vernacular, of unravelling the magical power of the syncretic. It understood difference. The West devalued difference to create impoverished unities. Its discourses verged on the monolithic and monolingual. This is why Jit felt that the linguistic revolution was as important as the quantum. The encounter with the other was more playful. Jit illustrated it with a relation between Gandhi and Nanak.

Jit argued that Gandhi's distinction between swadeshi and swaraj was an example. He considered this an act of liberation, a dyad that evoked freedom and trusteeship at a different level. Both had a playful linguistic essence to them. They grabbed at the grim asceticism of dualism. Swadeshi evoked the local, the familiar and the neighbourhood. Yet swadeshi was never a closed circle as we present it today. It spiralled out into swaraj, which encompassed the connections of the world. As Gandhi put it: the poetics of a dew drop emerging into the ocean, encompassing the local and the universal. As ideas, swadeshi and swaraj were life-giving. There was no ranking between them. They were life-giving in a way that the Planning Commission never understood. For Jit, the vernacular was a cornucopia of ideas that needed to be tapped. The Bhakti movement represented this approach at its best.

But Jit's work is not only a critique of the West. Like Gandhi and Indian national movement, he sought to rescue the West—not through revolution as political economy, but through cognitive playfulness. Play created possibility; revolution, by being obsessive, shut them down. This was the difference between Gandhi and Lenin. Playfulness and nonviolence went hand in hand.

Jit claimed that Gandhi, like Jagadish Chandra Bose, was involved in science. He added that it was inconsequential that Gandhi called his autobiography My Experiments with Truth. Jit argued that life is always an experiment, and the experiment is never on the other. An experiment on the other would be an act of vivisection, like the British vivisected India, indifferent to the power and imagination of the body and the body politic. For Jit, science dealt in three elements—the self as autobiography, where righteous method became pedagogy; the experiment as playfulness, which increased the suppleness of the other; and the ashram as not only a centre for asceticism, but as a site to re-enchant the body.

It is a pity we rarely read our archives. Patrick Geddes, India's first professor of sociology, claimed that India had set the stage for a post-humanic science. The Germanic science of the time was prone to goose-stepping away from freedom. Both Bose and Gandhi were post-Germanic in vision. It is a pity that we did not read into their vision of Shantiniketan. The journalist Vinod Mehta showed Gandhi's ashrams were full of scientific experiments.

Gandhi's disciple Satish Chandra Mukherjee worked on all kinds of toilets to minimise consumption of water. To the Gandhian, Jit argued, the Western toilet was an example of the conspicuous consumption of science.

But Jit was never only a critic of the West. India, he felt, should work with the defeated West to create other possibilities. This was the basis for an alternative imagination. This was the beginning of a nonviolent science. Jit, like Gandhi, had a tremendous sense of humour. He cited the case of how the car Jamnalal Bajaj donated to the ashram, collapsed after two weeks and was then was pulled around by two oxen. Gandhi wickedly called this contraption his 'Ox-ford'.

Jit showed his remarkable courage during emergencies. He created a possibility of revolution, beyond the striped communist paradigm.

A lot of Jit is un-researched and untold. He belonged in many ways to the oral tradition, through conversations, adda and coffee houses. I regret that I was never his student for longer than a short stint during my master's course. I found him difficult to cope with, being easier with Veena Das and Andre Beteille. He called me the Prodigal; I eventually moved farther away. Yet, even the distance smells of gratitude as a celebration of the plurality of academia. Thank you, Jit.

PROMOTE PUBLIC TRANSPORT IN KERALA FOR EQUITABLE MOBILITY

RESMI P BHASKARAN

Policy analyst

KERALA'S once-prominent public transport system, particularly its extensive fleet of buses, is experiencing a decline, posing a paradox to the state's development model. The disappearance of efficient and affordable public transport raises concerns about equitable development. While private ownership of vehicles, especially two-wheelers, has grown, at a faster rate than the population growth, it has not been able to ensure the accessibility that affordable public transport once ensured. Recent reports reveal challenges such as increased travel time, traffic jams, and unavailability of adequate parking spaces. Apart from the cost to the economy due to the above challenges, the rise in the number of private vehicles also poses a challenge to the state's commitment towards reducing carbon emissions.

Kerala's public bus services, both private and public combined, declined from 1.3 per 1000 population in 2000 to 0.31 in 2023. It is currently lower than the national average of 1.2 for 1000 people. Private sector buses ensured connectivity within cities and peri-urban regions and even extended their services to remote areas prior to the year 2000. The decline has been sharp between the period before the onset of the Covid pandemic and the period after it. There were 12,900 private buses operating in Kerala in 2018. The number has come down to 7,300 in 2023. Similarly, there were only 4,200 Kerala State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) buses operating in 2023 as against 5,662 in 2018. However, the easy availability of credit and rising income led to a shift wherein those who used to commute on buses began relying on private vehicles, particularly two-wheelers.

Household vehicle ownership in Kerala, highlighted by the National Family and Health Survey 2019-20, stands at 58.6% for two-wheelers and 24.2% for four-wheelers. This contrasts with the bus availability of 0.31 per 1000 population, while cars and two-wheelers stand at 91 and 290 per 1000 population respectively. The rise in private vehicle ownership adversely impacts the profitability of public transport, with many private bus owners leaving the business due to declining demand and mounting operational costs. The subsequent decline in bus services further fueled the rise in the use of private transport vehicles, resulting in a significant drop in bus commuters from 1.32 crore in 2013 to 64 lakh in 2023. Also, despite the improved road infrastructure post-2000, public transport has not adapted to the changing needs, causing inconvenience to commuters, especially students and women who are engaged in low-paid work. Bus connectivity with the educational institutions played a major role in improved access to education in Kerala from the 1980s onwards. Post-2000, Kerala witnessed significant infrastructure growth, with total road length increasing from 1.24 lakh km (1999-2000) to 2.31 lakh km (2022). Road density is now 548 km per 100 sq m, nearly three times the national average. Bridges and flyovers have also sprung up, connecting remote areas. Despite KSRTC's perceived poor performance, a decline in private sector bus departures due to losses are often overlooked, revealing complex transportation dynamics.

EXPRESS

Kerala is a densely populated state and cannot sustain the increase seen in its private vehicle population since 2000.
A comprehensive revamp of KSRTC and private bus services is the need of the hour

Despite significant improvements in the standard of living and transport infrastructure, public transport in Kerala has not adapted to meet the evolving aspirations of the people. Bus routes remain unchanged despite increased connectivity with nearby towns and highways, leading to longer and time-consuming journeys. The delay in upgrading the quality of buses and the service on offer, coupled with negative public experiences with bus operators (both KSRTC and private), has also prompted people to abandon public transport. While air-conditioned buses were introduced a decade ago, many were withdrawn from service post-pandemic. The middle-income segment's abandonment of public transport has muted the public outcry about the lack of services.

Kerala is a densely populated state and cannot sustain the increase seen in its private vehicle population in recent years. A comprehensive revamp of the public transport system is needed. This includes optimising school and college buses during downtime, devising financial models to incentivise private operators, leveraging technology for efficient bus tracking, and exploring options like pre-purchased redeemable bus cards akin to metro cards. On top of these, incentivising government and private employees with prepaid redeemable bus coupons can generate revenue.

To fund daily public transport, the government can encourage employees to allocate a portion of their salary as a prepaid bus coupon, generating a minimum of ₹100 crore monthly which can meet the daily running expenses of the KSRTC. Similarly, the private sector employees can also contribute a small portion of their salary towards bus coupons, thereby helping create a fund for private operators to the tune of at least ₹100 crore. This can be used to subsidise a portion of the per-service expenses for private owners catering to minimum commuters. To ensure success, strategic planning of routes and services by KSRTC and the private sector is vital, along with collaborating with local self-governments for feeder services using unused buses from schools and institutions during the daytime.

Revise KSRTC's structure through the use of technology and public participation in management as in schools and government health centres to monitor services and enhance efficiency. To discourage private vehicle use, the government should introduce parking fees for staff vehicles in office premises. Promotion of public transport by private and public enterprises would support Kerala's moves to cut its carbon footprint thereby aligning with Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) principles.

In conclusion, Kerala needs a comprehensive overhaul of its road transport system to address the challenges posed by the rise in private vehicle ownership.

A major victory for Indian diplomacy as Qatar frees eight Indian naval veterans. Though Prime Minister Narendra Modi's regular foreign visits attracted criticism from some quarters, it is now clear that these visits helped strengthen India's ties with foreign countries. Gujarat schools

Ref: Uptick in primary schools with one teacher (Feb 13). It is surprising to note that as many as 1,606 schools in Gujarat have just one teacher. Everyone agrees that good education is important for the development of the country and should be any government's priority. This shows little effort is being made to improve the education quality.

SC refuses to stay law on appointment of CEC and ECs

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday refused to stay the new law regarding the appointment of the Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) and Election Commissioners (EC).

A two-judge bench, comprising Justices Sanjiv Khanna and Dipankar Datta, however, issued notice to the Centre and other respective parties after hearing a plea moved by the Association for Democratic Reforms.

The bench noted that a similar matter was already pending before the court and is coming up in April 2024. Accordingly, it directed that the present case be listed in April 2024 along with the same.

The Public Interest Litigation (PIL) filed by ADR challenged the constitutional validity of the Chief Election Commissioner and Other Election Commissioners Act, 2023.

The PIL said the Act allows the Executive to dominate the matter of appointment of Election Commission members, threatening democracy.

Lawyer Prashant Bhushan appearing for ADR pleaded to the SC for interim relief in view of the upcoming Lok Sabha elections, but the court refused to entertain the request.

It is to be noted that on January 12, a notice was also issued on two PILs raising the same issue. These two petitioners were Jaya Thakur and Gopal Singh.

23 students score perfect 100 in JEE Main, most from T'gana, says NTA

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

TWENTY-THREE candidates have bagged the perfect 100 score in the Joint Entrance Examination (JEE Main) 2024 with a maximum of them being from Telangana, the National Testing Agency (NTA) announced on Tuesday.

Over 11.70 lakh candidates had appeared for the first edition of the engineering exam.

Among the candidates who secured an NTA score of 100, seven are from Telangana, two from Haryana, three each from Andhra Pradesh, Rajasthan, and Maharashtra, two from Delhi, and one each from Gujarat, Karnataka, and Tamil Nadu. All are males.

However, on social media, especially micro-blogging site X, several students who appeared in the JEE Main 2024 Session 1 claimed that there has been a considerable difference in the marks versus percentile predictions. Some even termed it as "blunder." Many asked the NTA for clarification.

According to NTA officials, NTA score is not the same as the percentage of marks obtained; they are normalised scores across multi-session papers and are based on the relative performance of all those who appeared for the examination in one session.

The marks obtained are converted into a scale ranging from 100 to 0 for each session of examinees, the official added.

Officials said a central control room was opened to monitor and facilitate the smooth conduct of the examination on the ground.

"Two national coordinators, 18 regional coordinators, 303 city coordinators, 1,083 observers, 150 technical observers, and 162 deputy observers were deployed. Live CCTV surveillance was planned in all examination centers to curb malpractices," the official said.

"Arrangements were made for live viewing of all examination centers in remote locations from the control room located in the NTA premises of New Delhi. The CCTV systems were recorded," the official added.

Mobile network jammers were installed at all the centers to prevent students from using mobile phones or other electronic devices during the exam. "The latest 5G jammers were installed at all examination centers for the first time," the official explained.

The examination was held in Assamese, Bengali, English, Gujarati, Hindi, Kannada, Malayalam, Marathi, Odia, Punjabi, Tamil, Telugu and Urdu.

Outside India, the exam was held in places such as Manama, Doha, Dubai, Kathmandu, Muscat, Riyadh, Sharjah, Singapore and Kuwait City.

Farmers' income hit as agri exports dip for third year in a row

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

DATA shows India's overall agriculture exports have been consistently declining in the past three years. Experts say the trend has certainly hit farmers' income.

In the meantime, India has expanded its supply of fresh fruits from 102 to 111 foreign countries in the last one year.

The latest data shows that India's agri-export growth rate was 17% in 2020-21, which has declined to 6% in 2022-23. Even Agricultural Products Export Development Authority (APEDA) exports have sharply declined from 24% to 11%.

However, the Directorate General of Commercial Intelligence and Statistics stated that APEDA's product exports have touched a new height of $26.7 billion in 2022-23 and expanded the export basket to over 200 countries. APEDA's export basket is dominated by cereals (50%) followed by animals products (15%), processed fruits and vegetables (8%), and fresh fruits and vegetables (6%).

In terms of value, the total exports in APEDA's product-value declined to $17.88 billion in April-December 2023 from $19.68 billion in April-December 2022. Total agri-export value reduced to $34.99 billion in FY2023 from $38.63 billion during the same period a year ago.

On a positive note, India's banana farmers have found a new market. In January, India shipped its first batch of bananas to Russia, amid that country's escalating tensions with Ecuador, traditionally its largest supplier of bananas.

As per APEDA data, banana exports grew 63%, followed by dried shelled lentils by 110%, fresh eggs by 160%, kesar by 12% and dasheri mango by 140%.

Moreover, exports to Iraq, Vietnam, Saudi Arabia and the UK grew by 110%, 46%, 18% and 47% respectively.

However, India's agriculture exports are quite low in international markets such as Europe (0.35%), Latin America (0.35%) and Asia (4.3%). "There is considerable scope in increasing exports to many major markets, where India's market share is very low," said Abhishek Dev, chairman, APEDA.

Norms for Community Radio Stations revised

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Information and Broadcasting on Tuesday revised the guidelines for starting Community Radio Stations (CRS). This is to ensure the financial sustainability of community radio stations and the growth of the radio sector, according to the ministry.

Under the new guidelines, an eligible organisation functioning in multiple districts will be allowed to set up a maximum of six stations in areas of its operation. The advertising time for the service has been increased from 7 minutes per hour to 12 minutes per hour. The rate of advertisement has also been revised from ₹52 per 10 seconds to ₹74 per 10 seconds.

Union Minister for Information and Broadcasting Anurag Singh Thakur released the revised guidelines on the occasion of 'World Radio Day' at the two-day Regional Community Radio Sammelan (South) being held at Anna University in Chennai.

Highlighting the importance of community radio, Thakur said that community radio stations offer a platform where content is disseminated in localised dialects and regional languages, and local and context-specific issues are raised and discussed in these stations in local idioms. "The government is committed to its mantra of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas, Sabka Vishwas and Sabka Prayas'. It is important to realise the importance of community radio in this direction. Our Prime Minister, in his Mann ki Baat, has shown through example how important the radio medium is, in both speaking and listening to public. Each CRS is a reflection of the local model that has been built over the years and the experiential learnings that have been collected and shared," he said.

The Minister of State for Information and Broadcasting, L Murugan, who was present on the occasion, said that a community radio station provides a platform to unheard voices from the community. These stations are one of the best ways to reach out intimately and directly to the people as they create locally relevant programmes useful to the community, he said.

Following the revision, the initial time period for the Grant of Permission Agreement has also been revised to 10 years. "The validity of the Letter of Intent issued to an organisation has been fixed to one year. A buffer of three months is also given to the applicant for any unforeseen circumstances. Timeline for the complete application process is fixed," said the ministry's statement.

India's first community radio was inaugurated in 2004 on the Anna University campus. There are 481 community radio stations in India currently, more than 133 have become operational in the last two years.

Keeping heritage alive: ASI digitises 29K estampages for epigraphy museum

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) has taken up a total of 67,461 estampages of Indian epigraphs for digitisation under the Bharat Shared Repository of Inscriptions (Bharat-SHRI) programme. According to culture minister G Kishan Reddy, 29,260 estampages have been digitised so far.

In her budget speech last year, finance minister Nirmala Sitharama had announced about setting up the repository, a digital epigraphy museum, and the digitisation of one lakh ancient inscriptions in the first phase.

Estampage or stamping is a commonly used term in epigraphy to obtain the exact replica of an inscription that cannot be transported.

During the process, inscriptions are collected from different parts of the country via meticulous village-to-village surveys undertaken by a team of epigraphists. The estampages of the inscriptions are then studied and preserved in various epigraphy branches. The information is disseminated through publications such as the Annual Report on Indian Epigraphy, brochures, and booklets like 'Indian Archaeology: A Review' every year.

Replying to a question pertaining to the status of the project in Rajya Sabha during the recently concluded session, Reddy said, "No separate budget has been allocated for the project, and the expenditure is incurred through the allocated funds to ASI. The Survey of India, being the custodian of the epigraphic wealth of the nation, has taken up the project by itself."

Out of the total outlay for the annual budget, ₹1,102.83 crore was allocated to the ASI last year for the protection, preservation and conservation of Centrally Protected Monuments or sites and excavations of monuments and archaeological sites.

In the recent past, the ASI has discovered significant inscriptions in states including Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Gujarat and Telangana.

One of them was recovered around November 2021 from Shiva temple, Sengalipalayam village in Karur district, on the southern bank of Amaravati river. It was written in Tamil and Grantha scripts of the 9th century CE. Another inscription found on a slab in a cultivated land at Hanagi in Sirivata taluk of Karnataka's Raichur district, is written in Kannada language. It dates to Chalukya Vikrama year 17 (1093 CE).

HC sets aside Sec 144 in Sandeshkhali

Area on tenterhooks since Jan 5 when ED officials got bashed up during raids on TMC leader

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

Women protestors take to the streets in strife-torn Sandeshkhali | EXPRESS

RENDERING a major blow to the West Bengal government's decision to impose restrictions on movements in Sandeshkhali, the Calcutta High Court on Tuesday set aside the promulgation of prohibitory order under Section 144 of CrPC in the ruling Trinamool Congress' stronghold that has been witnessing protests by locals over the past one week.

Responding to a petition filed by two residents of Sandeshkhali seeking a direction from the court for lifting the prohibitory orders in the area, Justice Jay Sengupta set aside district administration's decision to clamp Section 144 of CrPC holding that the manner in which it was done was not right. In another development, the high court on Tuesday took suo motu cognisance of allegations of sexual assault on women by TMC satraps and forcible transfer of tribal land there.

Bikash Bhattacharya, the counsel who represented the petitioners seeking lifting of the prohibitory order, said in his submission that the foundation of promulgation of the prohibitory orders in Sandeshkhali was not there and the restrictions were imposed deliberately to curtail the rights of people to protest.

The state opposed Bhattacharya's submission claiming that it has also to be seen whether there was sufficient ground for such protests and violence was perpetrated from such agitations.

Setting aside the state's move, the high court judge directed the police to maintain a vigilant presence in the area, deploy armed personnel and utilise modern technology such as drone cameras for surveillance. The court raised concern regarding the potential vulnerability of villagers of the prime accused is not apprehended.

Sandeshkhali turned to be the epicentre of Bengal politics after three officers of the Enforcement Directorate (ED) were bashed up and left bleeding when they went to search the house of TMC strongman Shahjahan Sheikh in a foodgrain scam case on January 5.

On seeing Shahjahan and his men are at large since the attack on the federal agency, homemakers women of the area mustered up their courage to come out and state protests against the fugitive TMC leader and his associates accusing them of sexually exploiting the local women.

Suo motu cognisance

In another development, the Calcutta high court on Tuesday took suo motu cognisance of allegations of sexual assault on women by TMC satraps and forcible transfer of tribal land in Sandeshkhali in North 24-Parganas district. The area under Basirhat Lok Sabha constituency turned to be the epicentre of Bengal politics after three ED officials were beaten when they had gone to raid the house of TMC strongman Shahjahan Sheikh in a foodgrain scam case on January 5.

Taking suo motu congnisance of allegation of sexual assault on women in Sandshkhali high court justice Apurba Sinha Roy directed the registrar general to issue notice to the state, senior police and administrative officials in this regard. The judge said he was "pained" and "very disturbed" over reports on alleged sexual harassment of women of Sandeshkhali and taking away of tribal land in violation of legal formalities of law.

The judge appointed advocate Jayanta Narayan Chatterjee as the amicus curiae to assist the high court in the matter.

Raj row after Surya Namaskar made compulsory

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

Govt schools

A controversy erupted over the decision to make Surya Namaskar compulsory for students in all government schools in the state. The mandate for the yoga in schools, effective from February 15, comes with a warning of legal repercussions for non-compliance

IN Rajasthan, a major row has erupted over the decision to make Surya Namaskar compulsory for students in all government schools of the state. Several Muslim bodies have protested against the move and have also filed a PIL asking the HC to quash the government order that seeks to force their children to perform the Surya Namaskar.

The Bhajanlal Sharma-led BJP government's mandate for Surya Namaskar in Rajasthan's schools, effective from February 15, is accompanied by a warning of legal repercussions for non-compliance.

This decision has drawn strong opposition from Muslim organizations. The state executive of the Jamiat Ulema Hind gathered in Jaipur on Monday to urge the Muslim community to boycott the Surya Namaskar program. Furthermore, several Muslim organizations, including Jamiat Ulema-e-Hind, have collectively petitioned the Rajasthan High Court, seeking the annulment of the February 15 program and a halt to the enforcement of Surya Namaskar in schools. The HC will review petition on February 14.

The Surya Namaskar involves a number of Yoga postures worshipping the Sun along with chanting of mantras. The Muslim organisations argue that performing Surya Namaskar implies accepting the Sun as God, which they say is not permitted in their religion. The Muslim bodies have asked students of their own community not to participate in the grand Surya Namaskar celebration which the new BJP government in the state has planned from 15th February on Surya Saptami.

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

POLICE on Tuesday said a hybrid militant, who was involved in killing of two migrant workers from Punjab in Srinagar last week, has been arrested and the weapon used in the targeted killing recovered.

Inspector General of Police (IGP) Kashmir V K Birdi told reporters today that police have cracked the case of targeted killing of two workers (carpenters) from Punjab by militants in Shala Kadal area of Shaheed Gunj in Srinagar on February 7.

> V K Birdi, Inspector General of Police

Police on the basis of technical and field analysis, he said, zeroed-in on certain suspects and later on based upon clinching evidence collected during investigation identified and arrested the main accused namely Adil Manzoor Langoo of Zaldagar of downtown Srinagar.

The IGP said the weapon of offence (a pistol) used in the attack has been recovered. On February 7 evening, militants shot at two migrant workers from Punjab — Amritpal Singh and Rohit Masih. Both sustained critical bullet injuries and Amritpal was declared "dead on arrival" in Srinagar hospital while Rohit succumbed to the injuries next morning.

Amrital and Rohit were coming to Srinagar from Amritsar and were on their way to their accommodation when they were attacked. The IGP said during the investigation, it has been found that the accused had conspired with his handler in Pakistan for commission of the terror crime.

"The accused was motivated and radicalized individual. His handler in Pakistan radicalised him on social media and motivated him to carry out the terror attack. The handler provided him with the weapon after which he motivated him to carry out the attack," he said.

The Resistance Front, an offshoot of Lashkar-e-Taiba, had claimed responsibility for the attack. The ADGP Kashmir Vijay Kumar said police would act tough against the handlers, who lure Kashmiri youth towards militancy.

"I will honestly work in BJP as I did in Congress till the last moment. I will start with a positive approach under the leadership of PM Modi," Chavan said.

So they are trying to save their reputation by breaking other parties," Patole added.

The locals aggressively questioned the two. As arguments heated up, others too joined the locals and started thrashing the two with sticks. Over half an hour later a police team reached the spot that rushed the two to the hospital where Aman succumbed to his injuries.

Deceased Aman Mondal is said to have been jailed previously in four cases of robbery and theft and had come out of jail a year ago. 'Kaji Nemu' declared as State Fruit, Assam govt says will benefit farmers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

THE Assam government on Tuesday declared the GI-tagged 'Kaji Nemu' (Citrus Limon) as the State Fruit. Elongated and oblong compared to other lemon varieties, Kaji Nemu is popular for its unique aroma and health benefits. It has been traditionally associated with the Assamese cuisines.

Speaking in the Assembly, Agriculture Minister Atul Bora made the announcement about the state government's decision to declare Kaji Nemu as the State Fruit.

He said the state has already started the commercial plantation of the lemon variety. He said the fruit had been exported to several countries, including to the Middle East.

Expressing gratefulness to Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma for this "visionary" and "laudable" move, Bora said he was excited about the prospects the initiative holds for the state's farmers and agricultural sector.

FULL OF NUTRIENTS

- 'Kaji Nemu' (Citrus Limon) bears GI Geography Indication tag, is linked to Assamese food
- The fruit is a powerhouse of nutrients, boosting health
- It is exported to several countries, including West Asia
- It is mainly grown at Dibrugarh, Golaghat, Cachar, Chirang, Nalbari and Dima Hasao districts

Sarma said with its unique aroma and antioxidant properties, the Assam lemon enriched the local cuisines.

"With today's announcement, it is set to shine on the global fruit map, boosting self-dependency and production," he said confidently.

Forest minister Chandra Mohan Patowary too believed Kaji Nemu would shine on the global fruit map.

"We are committed to promoting our indigenous produce. The declaration of Kaji Nemu as the State Fruit is an attestation towards this which will put the pride of Assam on the world map and greatly boost the income of our farmers," said government spokesperson and minister Pijush Hazarika.

Pramod Boro, who is the chief of autonomous Bodoland Territorial Council, said beyond its unique aroma, Kaji Nemu is a powerhouse of nutrients, contributing to local cuisines and boosting health. It was granted GI tag in 2019.

Dibrugarh, Golaghat, Cachar, Chirang, Nalbari and Dima Hasao are among the major Kaji Nemu-producing districts.

Buoyed by the success of this lemon variety business abroad, the state's Directorate of Horticulture and Food Processing had launched a Kaji Nemu trade promotional programme Delhi NCR, Pune, Mumbai and Bengaluru last year. Forty marketing experts were engaged in Delhi, Mumbai and Pune for the promotion of the fruit.

Palestinian death toll mounts as talks progress on ceasefire deal

Officials say six-week deal on table but more work needed to reach an agreement

CAIRO

THE Palestinian death toll from an Israeli hostage rescue operation in a key Gaza city rose to 74 on Tuesday, officials in the war-ravaged enclave said, even as the warring sides appear to have made progress toward a deal that aims to bring about a cease-fire and free hostages held by Hamas.

The raid took place early Monday in Rafah, a city on the southern edge of the Gaza Strip where 1.4 million Palestinians have fled to escape fighting elsewhere in the Israel-Hamas war. Women and children were among those killed in the airstrikes, Palestinian officials said. The overall Palestinian death toll from the war in Gaza has surpassed 28,000 people, according to the Health Ministry in Gaza. A quarter of Gaza's residents are starving.

The war began with Hamas' assault into Israel on October 7, in which militants killed about 1,200 people, mostly civilians, and abducted around 250. Israel says about 100 hostages remain in Hamas captivity, while Hamas is holding the remains of roughly 30 others who were either killed on October 7 or died in captivity. Three hostages were mistakenly killed by the army after escaping their captors in December.

Meanwhile, a senior Egyptian official said mediators have achieved what he described as "relatively significant" progress in the negotiations between Israel and Hamas ahead of a scheduled meeting in Cairo on Tuesday of representatives from Qatar, the United States and Israel.

Israeli media reported the head of the spy agency Mossad, David Barnea, was in the Egyptian capital.

The Egyptian official said the meeting would focus on "crafting a final draft" of a six-week cease-fire deal, with guarantees that the parties would continue negotiations toward a permanent cease-fire. A Western diplomat in the Egyptian capital also said a six-week deal was on the table but cautioned that more work is still needed to reach an agreement.

He said on Tuesday's meeting would be crucial in bridging the remaining gaps to get the two sides to agree on a six-week truce and embark on talks for a final cease-fire deal.

The officials spoke on condition of anonymity because they were not authorised to discuss the sensitive talks with the media. AP

Bodies of 133 people killed in Israeli strikes have been brought to hospitals in the Gaza Strip over the past day, health officials there said.

Freezing funds to the UN agency for Palestinian refugees risks "aiding" the deaths of civilians in Gaza, the head of Saudi Arabia's humanitarian agency said on Tuesday.

France on Tuesday said it was imposing sanctions against 28 "extremist Israeli settlers" who it accuses of committing human rights abuses against Palestinian civilians in the occupied West Bank.

Germany's foreign minister said Israel has a duty to guarantee "safe corridors" for civilians in Rafah before conducting any incursion against Hamas in the southern Gaza city.

'RESPONSE DISPROPORTIONATE'

Italian Foreign Minister Antonio Tajani said on Tuesday there were "too many victims" in Gaza, saying Israel's assault on the Palestinian territory following the unprecedented Hamas attacks was "disproportionate".

South Africa lodges 'urgent request' with top UN court

CAPE TOWN

SOUTH Africa's government said Tuesday it had lodged an 'urgent request' with the UN's International Court of Justice to consider whether Israel's military operations targeting the southern Gaza city of Rafah are a breach of provisional orders the court handed down last month in a case alleging genocide. South Africa has asked the court to weigh whether Israel's intention to launch a ground offensive in Rafah ' where 1.4 million Palestinians have fled in an attempt to escape fighting ' represents a 'further imminent breach of the rights of Palestinians in Gaza".

Israel has already launched a series of strikes on the city on the border with Egypt, which along with other regional neighbours has warned that an offensive on Rafah would bring disaster.

South Africa alleges Israel is committing genocide against the Palestinian people in its war against the Hamas militant group in the Gaza Strip and lodged a case with the world court. The court handed down a preliminary ruling last month.

Among its six orders, it said Israel must do all it can to prevent the deaths of Palestinians and the destruction of Gaza. South Africa had asked the court to order a ceasefire by Israel, but the justices stopped short of that. AP

RIL at 49th spot among top 50 firms globally by m-cap; Microsoft most valuable company

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

MUKESH AMBANI'S Reliance Industries Ltd (RIL) has become the first listed Indian company to hit the ₹20 lakh crore market capitalisation mark as shares of the oil-to-telecom giant hit a record high level on Tuesday.

RIL is now at 49th spot among the top 50 companies globally by market cap. Microsoft is the world's most valuable company followed by Apple and Saudi Aramco.

RIL shares hit a new high of ₹2,975.80 on the BSE in the intraday trade of Tuesday. This pushed its m-cap to a record high of ₹20.01 lakh crore in the intraday trade. At close, the company's shares were up 1% to ₹2,928.95 apiece and its m-cap stood at ₹19.81 lakh crore.

RIL shares have surged more than 13% so far in calendar year 2024 following positive commentary by analysts on peaking capex and a strong performance by its retail arm. Besides erosion in the valuation of Walt Disney's India unit ahead of its proposed merger with RIL's media business and expected demerger of its retail and digital arm is said to be a positive for investors. In the last two weeks alone, the stock's value has gone up by ₹1 lakh crore.

Among the most valuable listed companies, RIL is followed by Tata Group's most coveted company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) whose m-cap stood at ₹15.18 lakh crore at the end of Tuesday's session. The valuation gap between the two giants has now ballooned to ₹5 lakh crore. For many years, RIL and TCS competed neck and neck for the top position in the valuation game. The IT behemoth even topped RIL's m-cap in June 2019 and March 2020.

After TCS, the most valuation scrip on the exchanges is HDFC Bank whose shares are under severe pressure following the Q3FY24 results. The country's largest lender was last valued at ₹10.59 lakh crore.

It took less than five years for the RIL to add the last ₹10 lakh crore to its m-cap as the company during this period has become a force to reckon with in the telecom and retail space besides big growth in its mainstay oil to chemical business. RIL's m-cap first hit the ₹1 lakh crore m-cap mark in August 2005, followed by its m-cap soaring to ₹10 lakh crore in November 2019.

The surge in RIL shares has added many billions to Ambani's personal wealth. The business tycoon, also Asia's richest, has now a net worth of around $109 billion, as per the Bloomberg's Billionaire Index. Ambani is followed by Gautam Adani in the rich list whose net worth stood at $99.4 billion.

Macquarie slashes Paytm share price target to ₹265

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GLOBAL brokerage firm Macquarie has slashed target price (TP) for One97 Communications (Paytm) shares by more than 50% to ₹275 apiece as it sees large customer exodus, reduction in revenue and losses accumulating.

It expects One97 Communications to report a ₹3,424 crore loss in FY25 from an expected loss of ₹1,742 crore in FY24. Following this report, Paytm shares fell 10% on Tuesday to close at ₹380 apiece. The stock has erased half of its value in less than two weeks.

"We downgrade Paytm to Underperform and sharply cut TP to ₹275 from ₹650, driven by a sharp reduction in revenues across various segments," said Macquarie note. In a big setback for SoftBank-backed Paytm, RBI barred its Payments Bank from taking new or top-up deposits in any customer accounts, prepaid instruments, wallets, FASTags, NCMC cards, etc. after February 29, 2024, due to non-compliance.

This, as per analysts at Macquarie, poses a serious risk of exodus of customers for Paytm which significantly jeopardises its monetisation as well as its business model. Currently, Paytm has 33 crore customers, with 11 crore monthly transacting users. It also has a network of over 1.06 crore merchants.

"We factor 60-65% fall in distribution revenues leading to 170%/40% increase in loss estimates over FY25E/26E…We assume a 50% cash burn (cash balance of ₹130/share) and 20x P/E multiple to normalised earnings from distribution business. Our TP is based on assumption that Paytm remains a going concern," said Macquarie.

It said moving payment bank customers to other bank accounts within RBI's February 29 deadline will be an arduous task. The note added that their channel checks with some lending partners reveal they are relooking at their relationship with Paytm, which could lead to a fall in lending business revenues in case partners scale down or terminate their relationship with Paytm.

Company's losses likely to expand in FY24

Macquire expects One97 Communications to report a ₹3,424 crore loss in FY25 from an expected loss of ₹1,742 crore in FY24. Following this report, Paytm shares fell 10% on Tuesday to close at ₹380 apiece. The stock has erased half of its value in less than two weeks

RATINGS

Moody's upgrades outlook of 4 Adani firms

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a major boost to Adani Group, rating agency Moody's has changed outlook of four companies from negative to stable.

The agency changed the outlook of four companies – Adani Energy, Adani Green Energy Restricted Group-1, Adani Transmission Step-One Limited and Adani Electricity Mumbai Limited (AEML) – from negative to stable.

The rating agency maintained stable outlook on four other firms – Adani Ports and Special Economic Zone Limited (APSEZ), Adani International Container Terminal Private Ltd, Adani Green Energy Restricted Group-2, and Adani Energy Solutions Limited Restricted Group 1.

In February 2023, Moody's revised the outlook on four rated Adani Group companies to negative reflecting concerns over their access to capital and a potential increase in capital costs following the release of a report from a short-seller highlighting concerns over the Adani Group's governance practices, which led to significant and rapid declines in the market value of the Adani Group companies securities

In a note issued on Tuesday, the agency said since the Hindenburg report in January 2023, the group has completed a number of debt transactions.

GST dept doubles down efforts to meet FY24 target

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

DESPITE robust monthly GST collections, the Revenue department is leaving no stone unturned to ensure they meet the collection targets.

The GST department has directed its officers across the country to roll up their sleeves to meet current year GST revenue target. The officers across all grades have been instructed to not take leaves until March 31 unless there is an emergency, sources told TNIE. However, such diktats have not gone down well with some officers of the department. Many say despite the advancement in digital technology, it is saddening to know that the GST officers are being compelled to minimise their routine leaves.

"We are navigating through a transformed India, a digital India, where GST compliance has fully transitioned online, with plans to digitalise assessments and litigation in the coming years. Despite these advancements, it's concerning to observe that leading GST offices across the state are instructing tax officers to "minimise routine leaves until March 31, 2024" until they achieve their revenue quotas," he said.

As per Rajat Mohan, executive director, Moore Singhi, this approach suggests some GST offices continue to adhere to traditional, rigid practices as the financial year draws to a close, undermining the spirit of fairness in tax collection.

He further said these issues highlight the need for a more balanced approach in tax administration that upholds the principles of fairness, efficiency, and transparency, ensuring the tax system remains equitable and supportive of taxpayer needs. The government is expecting to collect ₹9.6 lakh crore in FY24, as per its revised estimates. The gross GST revenue in January stood at ₹1.72 lakh crore, a rise of 10.4% YoY.

JSW, Japanese co JV to set up unit in Karnataka, invest ₹5,500 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JSW Steel Limited entered into a 50:50 joint venture (JV) with Japan's JFE Steel Corporation for electrical steel production in India.

The new company, JSW Electrical Steel Private Limited, to be renamed JSW JFE Electrical Steel Private Limited, it said in an exchange filing on Tuesday.

It will have a manufacturing base at Bellary in Karnataka with an investment of ₹5,500 crore. The joint venture will have end-to-end manufacturing of grain oriented electrical steel products in India, catering to the surging domestic demand. Grain-oriented electrical steel plays an important role in energy-efficient transformers production in laminated, wound, or punched sheet form. It serves as the core material for distribution transformers, power transformers, and small transformers, it said.

A groundbreaking ceremony marking the initiation of the partnership was held on Monday. The facility is targeting to commence production in the fiscal year 2027. Kitano, President and CEO of JFE Steel, Sajjan Jindal, Chairman and Managing Director of JSW Steel were present at the event.

JSW Steel said it plans to further expand its capacity of the upcoming electrical steel facility to meet the growing market demand for grain-oriented electrical steel in the country. JSW's subsidiary JSW Utkal Steel Limited last month got possession of 2677.80 acres of forest land in Odisha to set up a greenfield integrated steel plant (ISP). It already got a nod from the Union Minister of Environment, Forest and Climate Change. The plant is set to have 13.2 million tonne per annum (MTPA) capacity with a capital expenditure of ₹65000 crore, which will be implemented in phases.

EDGING CLOSER TO ENDING DEFLATION: GOVT PAPER

The Japanese economy is getting out of the deflationary state, the government said Tuesday. This is seen as "positive developments" not seen before in the economy. The report emphasised the importance of sustained wage growth in establishing the foundation for Japan to officially declare an end to deflation, which is characterised by continuously falling prices. The Bank of Japan is widely expected to transition away from years of massive monetary stimulus. The government highlighted several positive signs, including a proactive stance among Japanese firms in passing on higher costs by raising prices, heightened inflation expectations among households and businesses, and strengthening demand. The Cabinet Office said the country is still "halfway" through in terms of realizing nominal wage growth outpacing inflation. The country's wages have been falling for nearly two years when adjusted for inflation. The government has maintained that Japan is not in a state of deflation but has yet to officially declare its end.

CHINA

NEW BANK LOANS IN JAN HIT RECORD HIGH

The new bank loans in China expanded more than expected to an all-time high in January, as the country's central bank has been making efforts to shore up the sputtering economy. The government had earlier said it will roll out measures to support the weaker-than-expected post-COVID recovery in the world's second-largest economy. The country is facing a deep property crisis and prolonged stock market rout. The lenders tend to front-load loans at the beginning of the year to get higher-quality customers and win market share. Banks extended 4.92 trillion yuan ($683.7 billion) in new yuan loans in January, a sharp rise from December and beating analysts' expectations, data from the People's Bank of China (PBOC) showed on Friday. January lending more than quadrupled from December's 1.17 trillion. It exceeded the previous record of 4.9 trillion yuan in the same month a year earlier.

PESO FACES UNCERTAINTY AMID RATE CUT SPECULATIONS

With concerns mounting over its ability to maintain stability against the dollar, the Philippine peso is experiencing a significant pressure. The country's currency has depreciated nearly 1% as of Monday this year, closing at 56.02 against the US dollar. This places the currency close to the 57 per dollar threshold. The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) had previously intervened to prevent further decline of the currency. Several factors contribute to the peso's vulnerability, including dovish remarks from Philippine Finance Secretary Benjamin Diokno, who last month suggested the possibility of the central bank cutting interest rates by up to 100 basis points in 2024. The ongoing trade deficit also poses a challenge to the currency's strength. the Federal Reserve's resistance to market expectations for rate cuts as early as March, coupled with escalating tensions in the Middle East, could potentially drive the peso beyond its support level in the coming weeks.

Rapido starts subscription fee-based model for autos

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

BENGALURU-based ride-hailing start-up Rapido has introduced a subscription fee-based model for auto drivers using the platform.

Under this, the drivers could pay a particular amount for using the app instead of paying commission for rides. Auto drivers will have to pay an access fee ranging from ₹9 to ₹40 per day, depending upon the city. Drivers in bigger cities will have higher fees, as the earning scope is high. Rapido doesn't decide the trip charge.

Pavan Guntupalli, co-founder of the start-up, wants to scale up the auto fleet size attached with the platform to make this a viable model.

He agreed this fee model will bring down the margins of the company in the near term but asserted that more revenue could be generated once it scaled and market share. However, he said this is not an unsustainable business and they're not burning cash.

He wants to double the auto fleet size to 10 lakh in a year. "Around 17 lakh rides across different platforms. But an estimated 2 crore auto rides are happening in the country everyday. We're thinking how do we bring more auto drivers to our platform." As on date. 1.5 crore auto rides are taken every month on it, according to Rapido. Pawan wants to 'disrupt the commission model with software as service business (SaaS) SaaS model' and believes this will be more transparent for drivers and improve their earnings and the increased pie will bring more revenue to the company.

Its losses reportedly rose in FY23 to ₹675 crore compared to ₹439 crore in FY22. Pavan Guntupalli said the company has turned operationally profitable and soon will turn profitable in EBITDA margin.

Osaka beats Garcia in Qatar to avenge Oz Open loss

Naomi Osaka put last week's first round defeat in Abu Dhabi behind her with a straight sets defeat of 15th seed Caroline Garcia at the Qatar Open. The Japanese four-time Grand Slam winner was exacting a small measure of revenge on Garcia with this 7-5, 6-4 success in Doha as it was the French star who knocked her out in the first round of last month's Australian Open.

UWW lifts WFI suspension, prez says Oly qualifiers trials open to all

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

IN what comes as a big relief for the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI), the United World Wrestling (UWW) on Tuesday lifted the suspension imposed on the national federation on August 23 last year with immediate effect. The decision means Indian wrestlers can now compete under the country's flag in the events being organised by the UWW. It also means official entries for all UWW events can only be sent by the WFI that is headed by Sanjay Kumar Singh, considered a close associate of former president Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh. Besides, tournaments and camps organised by the NSF will now have recognition from the world body.

"The UWW Bureau met on February 9 to review the suspension among other topics and considering all the elements and information, it decided to lift the suspension under the following conditions: The WFI has to reconvene the elections of its Athletes' Commission. The candidates for this commission shall be active athletes or retired for no longer than four years. The voters shall be exclusively athletes. These elections shall take place during trials or any senior national championships where this operation can take place, but no later than July 1, 2024," read a UWW statement.

The other important condition stated by the world body is non-discrimination against any wrestlers, especially the three grapplers — Bajrang Punia, Vinesh Phogat and Sakshi Malik — who protested against Brij Bhushan. "The WFI has to immediately provide UWW with written guarantees that all wrestlers will be considered for participation without any discrimination in all WFI events, in particular trials for the Olympic Games and any other major national and international events. This non-discrimination includes the three athletes who protested against alleged wrongdoings by the former President. UWW remains in touch with the wrestlers and will follow up with them in the coming days," the statement read.

Notably, the trio was the face of the protest that erupted in January last year. The wrestlers accused Brij Bhushan, a BJP member of parliament, of sexual harassment and other wrongdoings including misappropriation of funds.

"We will talk to the government and request them to facilitate the hosting of national camps. We will also organise selection trials to pick the national teams for the remaining two Olympic qualifiers," Sanjay Singh told this daily. Notably, soon after the elections on December 21 last year, the sports ministry abstained the WFI from functioning and formed a three-member ad-hoc committee to look after the day-to-day activities in the country. Speaking on the conditions laid down by the UWW, the WFI chief said, "No one would be stopped from participating in the selection trials. Everyone, whether they participated in the Pune nationals or Jaipur nationals, will be allowed to compete. We are hopeful the ministry will now allow us to function after the UWW's decision."

Given the state of affairs of wrestling in the country, two senior national championships were held in the country — one each by WFI in Pune and ad-hoc panel in Jaipur.

Fate of ongoing camps

Even as the UWW made its decision public, the sports ministry and ad-hoc panel headed by Bhupender Singh Bajwa refrained from commenting on it. Incidentally, national camps announced by the ad-hoc panel, began a couple of days ago at SAI centres in Patiala (women) and Sonepat (men in Greco-Roman and freestyle). The SAI and ad-hoc body didn't respond to queries sent to them in this regard. The panel also announced to hold selection trials for Olympic qualifiers on March 10-11.

With wickets drying up since a memorable debut, Gujarat spinner may make way for Jadeja

AXAR CONUNDRUM

GOMESH S @ Rajkot

WHEN Axar Patel made his debut in the second Test against England the last time they toured, it seemed like a long overdue reward. A chance that came after being on standby for the longest time to one of the most prolific left-arm spinners in the world — Ravindra Jadeja. But the thing with Axar was, when he got the chance, he grabbed it with both hands.

Having started with seven wickets in the game including a fifer, by the time the series ended, it seemed like he had ensured a place in the playing XI every time India played a home Test. After all, he had taken 27 wickets in six innings at an average of 10.59. Such was his dominance that another left-arm spinner, Kuldeep Yadav, seemed to have gone down the pecking order. However, three years and 13 home Tests since his debut, Axar might still not be a certainty with Jadeja fit and available for the third Test against England that is set to be played in Rajkot from Thursday.

Since the last time India toured England, the hosts have ten home Tests off which Axar has featured in nine. In those 17 innings, he has taken only 20 wickets, seven less than what he took in his debut series. Granted the pitches were rank turners as they were for the 2021 England series, but when the same team arrived in Hyderabad last month, a lot more was expected off Axar. In the first Test, he returned with 3/107 in 29 overs. Apart from his minimal return with the ball, the fact that Axar couldn't keep it tight became a worrisome factor. Now, to be fair, Jadeja and R Ashwin too went for runs, but they are proven performers. It's Axar's spot that Kuldeep is pushing for.

Which is why, when Jadeja missed the second Test at Visakhapatnam due to injury, it was as much of an opportunity for Axar as it was for Kuldeep. If anything, it was more crucial for the orthodox left-arm spinner. After all, if Kuldeep has a really good game and Jadeja comes back, it could be in place of Axar and not the wrist spinner. Over four days of engrossing contest, that is exactly what happened. Axar had match figures of 2/99 with an economy of 5.5 while Kuldeep returned with 4/131; his economy was 5.95. Although it might seem like Kuldeep went for more, his role in this team is as a strike bowler. He is expected to go for a few runs but take wickets.

Axar, meanwhile, hasn't been able to keep the batters quiet and also did not make an influential impact with the ball. In fact, in both the innings Rohit Sharma gave the new ball to Kuldeep before either of Ashwin or Axar was brought on. And the left-arm wrist spinner kept asking questions despite what the scorecard suggests. What also does not help Axar is his performance with the bat. Unlike Kuldeep, who despite making significant contributions with the bat in domestic cricket is being looked at as a frontline bowler, Axar is an all-rounder. He is expected to hit the spin and contribute with the bat — which he has done in the past. Despite the two 40-plus scores, it is not unfair to say that the Gujarat spinner did not make the most of the opportunity, especially in the absence of Jadeja. It was a chance to stake a claim as a spin-bowling all-rounder and pile on a big score, but he couldn't.

What this means is that, with Jadeja back for the third Test, there is a high chance that Kuldeep might keep his place. At the moment all three spinners trained in Rajkot on Tuesday. Kuldeep when asked about Jadeja's availability on Tuesday had this to say: "I think so (he might play). He's doing his routine, he had a session yesterday (Monday) as well, and he is there today. I think he's available."

What gives Kuldeep an edge is the variety he brings to the attack rather than having two left-arm orthodox spinners. But also, Jadeja covering the spot of the spin-bowling all-rounder, Kuldeep will have more freedom to be the wicket-taking bowler. Although Axar does extend the batting depth, Kuldeep's wicket-taking ability perhaps gives him the edge, especially in Rajkot where it's usually a batting-friendly surface. Kuldeep, however, said that he is not sure if he will start in the playing XI. "It's still two days out. If I get the opportunity I will be more than happy. I don't think too much about whether I am playing or not. I just enjoy my day and keep working hard, that is my process and combination matters a lot in a team game. It is as simple as that," Kuldeep said.

While India might continue with the Vizag spin trio if Jadeja is not playing, should he play, it will be interesting to see what the team management decides to do. The stakes are high for the hosts as they would want to take the lead having levelled the series 1-1 and they would want to go in with the best combination available. And the case of Axar or Kuldeep is something they might have to ponder over in the lead-up to the third Test.

Irfan remembers his U-14 days with coach Dattajirao

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

AS soon as the news of the death of India's oldest Test cricketer and former captain Dattajirao Gaekwad started circulating, ex-India all-rounder Irfan Pathan posted a message on X, formerly Twitter, extending his deep condolences. "Under the shade of the banyan tree at the Motibag cricket ground, from his blue Maruti car, Indian captain D.K. Gaekwad sir tirelessly scouted young talent for Baroda cricket, shaping the future of our team. His absence will be deeply felt," was Pathan's message.

The heartfelt message was proof of the immense respect Pathan has for Dattajirao, who was the father of former India opener and national coach Anshuman Gaekwad. In fact, it was under his wings that Pathan, who played 29 Tests for India scoring 1105 runs and claiming 100 wickets, started playing for Baroda in the under-14 age group. "He used to work hard, imparting coaching to youngsters for 4-5 hours every day. When we were first selected for the under-14 Baroda team, he was the coach. So it was a perfect opportunity for us to meet him," Pathan told this daily.

Dattajirao, 95, breathed his last early on Tuesday morning after battling for life in the ICU of a Baroda hospital for the past 12 days, a source in the family told a news agency. The right-hand batter played 11 Tests for India between 1952 and 1961, captaining the national team in 1959 when it toured England.

His international returns might not have been impressive but he was a stalwart as far as domestic cricket is concerned. He played 110 First-Class matches, scoring 5788 runs including 17 centuries.

Speaking on the loss, Pathan said, "DK sir was a very sharp person. Baroda cricket has lost a cricketing diamond with his demise. He has been a hero for all of us. He has given a lot to Baroda cricket as a player and as a coach. His contributions will be remembered for decades."

The former talented swing and seam bowler reminisced the days when he learnt the nuances of the game from 'DK sir'. "Every day after the practice session, he used to spend at least half-an-hour with all of us. He used to apprise us with a lot of technical details of the game which helped us learn a lot," Pathan signed off.

DK was a gutsy player: Reddy

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

DATTAJIRAO Krishnarao Gaekwad passed away at his residence in Gujarat's Baroda on Tuesday. At 95, he was India's oldest surviving Test cricketer. Gaekwad played 11 Tests between 1952 and 1961, after making his Ranji debut in 1948. Gaekwad is survived by his son, Anshuman Gaekwad, also an ex-India cricketer and former national coach.

Senior Gaekwad is fondly remembered for winning the Ranji Trophy for Baroda in his first year as captain of the state in 1957-58. "DK Gaikwad was a very nice person. He was a well-respected person too. He also captained India in those days,'' said former India cricketer and former secretary of the TNCA Bharath Reddy. Reddy in his playing days got the opportunity to interact with DK Gaikwad through his son Anshuman.

"I got to know DK through his son Anshuman. I have interacted with him a lot. In fact, Anshuman imbibed most of the qualities of his father," recollected 69-year-old Reddy. DK, as he was affectionately known, was a sound batsman who had a good defence. "I have not seen him (DK) play, but I heard a lot of stories about him. From the people who have played with him. I have heard he (DK) was a very strong character like Anshuman, he (DK) was a very gutsy player,'' said Reddy, sending his condolences to DK's family members, in particular, Anshuman.

Bayern seek Euro balm, PSG face Real test

BAYERN MUNICH AND PSG ARE THE BIG TEAMS IN ACTION IN THE CHAMPIONS LEAGUE ROUND OF 16 ON WEDNESDAY. A LOOK AT THE TWO MATCHES...

Lazio vs Bayern

Stung by a 3-0 humiliation at the hands of Bayer Leverkusen, Bayern head to Lazio knowing only a deep run in Europe will salvage their season. A poor showing against Lazio could push manager Thomas Tuchel closer to an unthinkable exit, less than a year after joining the German champions.

28 Bayern would be banking on 100-million-euro ($108 million) striker Harry Kane, who has scored 28 goals in 28 matches in all competitions this season.

PSG vs Real Sociedad

PSG host Real Sociedad in the last-16 first leg on Wednesday, hoping to avoid a third straight exit from the competition in the first knock-out round. The reigning French champions will be relying on summer signing Marco Asensio, who has been a key player since the winter break.

1983 Real Sociedad have not reached the quarter-finals since 1983.

Mumbai City post narrow win over East Bengal

AGENCIES @ Kolkata

MUMBAI CITY FC sneaked past East Bengal FC by 1-0 at the Salt Lake Stadium in Kolkata in the ongoing Indian Super League (ISL) on Tuesday. Post the departure of key stars in the January transfer window, the Islanders would be relieved by the performance put in by former FC Goa star Iker Guarrotxena, who joined Petr Kratky's team last month.

The attacker made an impact straightaway by getting hold of a starting spot, teasing the East Bengal FC defence with his sharp movements and a fierce eye for a goal. Guarrotxena was on target in the fourth minute itself, which was set up by Vikram Pratap Singh through a low cross. The striker was merely six yards out at the moment, but he couldn't open the scoring.

Lallianzuala Chhangte got on the move soon afterwards, dazzling across the frontline and playing key roles in creating chances for Tiri and Guarrotxena.

The incumbent ISL Golden Ball winner pounced upon a corner kick to square up a delivery for Tiri first, which the former Jamshedpur FC defender couldn't put into the back of the net. Guarrotxena's effort in the 18th minute fell short of getting the visitors the lead too, but considering his lively presence early on, it was about time that he found the breakthrough.

It all fell in place in the 24th minute, with Spaniard Alberto Noguera chipping in a delightful delivery from some yards inside the halfway mark that Guarrotxena did well to bring down and control first up. Despite losing possession briefly, he was aware enough to recover the ball and hammer it in from the centre of the box.

Deflated India face stiff test against Dutch

Gallagher scores twice as Chelsea down Palace

AFP @ London

CONOR Gallagher struck twice to condemn his former club Crystal Palace to a damaging 3-1 defeat on Monday and keep Chelsea in the hunt for European football next season.

The injury-ravaged Eagles were on course for a huge win in their battle to remain in the Premier League when Jefferson Lerma's long-range strike opened the scoring.

But Palace have won just three times in 19 games and were undone late on after Gallagher equalised within two minutes of the second half.

Gallagher fired home his second and Enzo Fernandez added the third in stoppage time to lift Chelsea up to 10th and within two points of seventh. Defeat leaves Palace still just five points above the relegation zone in 15th. "It was extremely cruel but the game is about goals and unfortunately we made mistakes which led to goals," said Palace boss Roy Hodgson.

IOA trapped in its own constitution as prez-EC spat intensifies

FLIPSIDE

INDRANEEL DAS

THE Indian Olympic Association seems to be in a complete mess. The IOA president PT Usha has apparently written to the Executive Council and defended the decision to appoint the Chief Executive Officer, Raghuram Iyer, during the EC meeting on January 5. As per the letter, the EC had sent a mail to the president challenging the appointment of the CEO.

The EC members just after the announcement of the CEO appointment claimed that it was not ratified by the EC. The IOA president, however, has been insisting that EC members had objected only to the remuneration, which was addressed by the nomination committee and the president before the appointment. In a letter dated February 12, Usha said that the members had agreed to the appointment subject to "renegotiate the remuneration".

Usha also claimed that the EC did not have any other objection and asked the EC if they had any upper limit in their mind. But, according to the letter, no one said anything and that she had not violated the provisions of the constitution. However, if the EC indeed had objected to the appointment (over remuneration as well) on January 5 meeting, as claimed, then the president should have addressed it.

One thing is clear though. The IOA is trapped in its constitution that was drafted by L Nageswara Rao. The IOA right now seems to be in a precarious position. The eligibility criteria of ₹25 crore turnover and 10 years of experience too were inserted there. Some of the EC members even wanted to change it but because of the intervention of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), they could not.

The new constitution talks about appointment and only the Nomination Committee — Usha, Athletes' Commission chairperson MC Mary Kom and IOC member in India Nita Ambani — has the power to nominate a CEO and no one else. Technically, the EC can discuss terms of appointment. "The IOA shall employ a CEO on terms the Executive Council deems appropriate." It needs to be seen how the IOA navigates through this. Another point that stood out in the letter was "it seems that this is at the behest of certain stakeholders who do not have the best interest of the IOA". This unwarranted spat is threatening to overshadow the one between former president Narinder Batra and secretary general Rajeev Mehta. In fact, the current crisis reminisces of old ones when officials kept writing letters against each other. The back-and-forth letters have projected the IOA in a poor light. What seems even more disconcerting is the fact that more than half of the members in the EC are sportspersons.

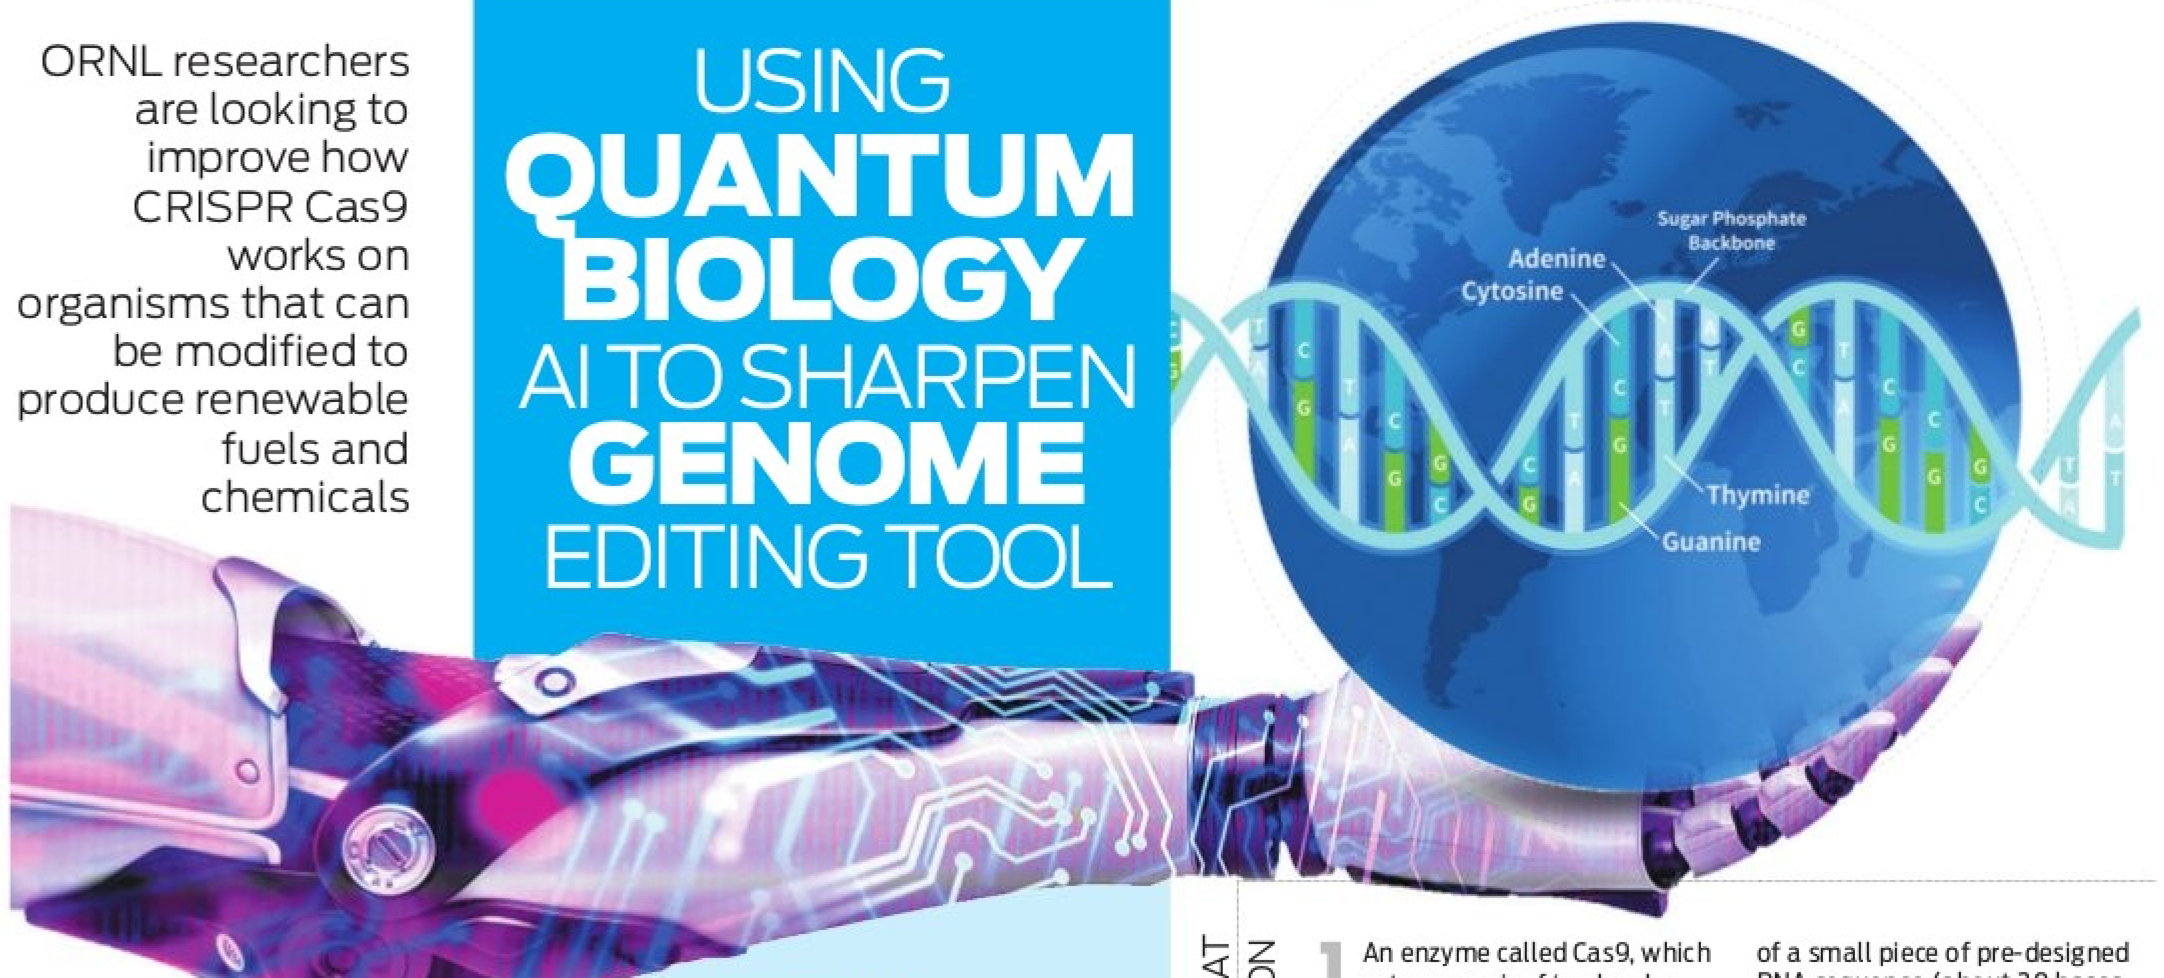
ORNL researchers are looking to improve how CRISPR Cas9 works on organisms that can be modified to produce renewable fuels and chemicals

USING QUANTUM BIOLOGY AI TO SHARPEN GENOME EDITING TOOL



DECODING CRISPR CAS9

CRISPR Cas9 is a genome editing tool that has evinced a lot of interest in the world of science. It is faster, economical and more accurate than previous techniques of editing DNA and has a wide range of potential applications. CRISPR Cas9 is a unique technology that enables geneticists and medical researchers to edit parts of a genome by removing, adding or altering sections of the DNA sequence, and is currently the simplest, most versatile and precise method of genetic manipulation.

2 KEY MOLECULES THAT INTRODUCE A MUTATION

1 An enzyme called Cas9, which acts as a pair of 'molecular scissors' that can cut the two strands of DNA at a specific location in the genome so that bits of DNA can then be added or removed

2 A piece of RNA called guide RNA (gRNA), which consists of a small piece of pre-designed RNA sequence (about 20 bases long) located within a longer RNA scaffold. The scaffold part binds to DNA and the pre-designed sequence 'guides' Cas9 to the right part of the genome. This ensures that the Cas9 enzyme cuts at the right point in the genome

● According to the National Library of Medicine, the important application of CRISPR-Cas systems is to establish genetically modified animal and cell models of human diseases, gene knockout models, exogenous gene knock-in models, and site directed mutagenesis models

Scientists at Oak Ridge National Laboratory (ORNL), in Tennessee in the US, used their expertise in quantum biology, artificial intelligence and bioengineering to improve how CRISPR Cas9 genome editing tools work on organisms like microbes that can be modified to produce renewable fuels and chemicals.

CRISPR is a powerful tool for bioengineering, used to modify genetic code to improve an organism's performance or to correct mutations. The CRISPR Cas9 tool relies on a single, unique guide RNA that directs the Cas9 enzyme to bind with and cleave the corresponding targeted site in the genome. Existing models to computationally predict effective guide RNAs for CRISPR tools were built on data from only a few model species, with weak, inconsistent efficiency when applied to microbes.

"A lot of the CRISPR tools have been developed for mammalian cells, fruit flies or other model species. Few have been geared towards microbes, where the chromosomal structures and sizes are very different," says Carrie Eckert, leader of the Synthetic Biology group at ORNL. "We had observed that models for designing the CRISPR Cas9 machinery behave differently when working with microbes, and this research validates what we'd known anecdotally."

To improve the modeling and design of guide RNA, the ORNL scientists sought a better understanding of what's going on at the most basic level in cell nuclei, where genetic material is stored. They turned to quantum biology, a field bridging molecular biology and quantum chemistry that investigates the effects that electronic structure can have on the chemical properties and interactions of nucleotides, the molecules that form the building blocks of DNA and RNA.

The way electrons are distributed in the molecule influences reactivity and conformational stability, including the likelihood that the Cas9 enzyme-guide RNA complex will effectively bind with the microbe's DNA, says Erica Prates, computational systems biologist at ORNL.

The best guide through a forest of decisions

The scientists built an explainable AI model called iterative random forest, which they trained on a dataset of around 50,000 guide RNAs targeting the genome of E. coli bacteria, while also taking into account quantum chemical properties, in an approach described in the journal Nucleic Acids Research. The model revealed key features about nucleotides that can enable the selection of better guide RNAs. "The model helped us identify clues about the molecular mechanisms that underpin the efficiency of our guide RNAs," Prates says, "giving us a rich library of molecular information that can help us improve CRISPR technology."

ORNL researchers validated the explainable AI model by conducting CRISPR Cas9 cutting experiments on E. coli with a large group of guides selected by the model. Using explainable AI gave scientists an understanding of the biological mechanisms that drove results, rather than a deep learning model rooted in a "black box" algorithm that lacks interpretability, says Jaclyn Noshay, a former ORNL computational systems biologist who is first author on the paper.

"We wanted to improve our understanding of guide design rules for optimal cutting efficiency with a microbial species focus given knowledge of the incompatibility of models trained across [biological] kingdoms," Noshay adds.

The explainable AI model, with its thousands of features and iterative nature, was trained using the Summit supercomputer at ORNL's Oak Ridge Leadership Computer Facility, or OLCF, a DOE Office of Science user facility.

Eckert says her synthetic biology team plans to work with computational science colleagues at ORNL to take what they've learned with the new microbial CRISPR Cas9 model and improve it further using data from lab experiments or a variety of microbial species.

Better CRISPR Cas9 tools for every species

Taking quantum properties into consideration opens the door to Cas9 guide improvements for every species. "This paper even has implications across the human scale," Eckert said. "If you're looking at any sort of drug development, for instance, where you're using CRISPR to target a specific region of the genome, you must have the most accurate model to predict those guides."

Refining CRISPR Cas9 models gives scientists a higher-throughput pipeline to link genotype to phenotype, or genes to physical traits, a field known as functional genomics. The research has implications for the work of the ORNL-led Center for Bioenergy Innovation (CBI), for example, to improve bioenergy feedstock plants and bacterial fermentation of biomass. "We're greatly improving our predictions of guide RNA with this research," Eckert says, adding, "The better we understand the biological processes at play and the more data we can feed into our predictions, the better our targets will be, improving the precision and speed of our research."

"The research aims to improve the ability to predictively modify the DNA of more organisms using CRISPR tools. This study represents an exciting advancement toward, understanding how we can avoid making costly 'typos' in an organism's genetic code," says ORNL's Paul Abraham, a bioanalytical chemist who leads the DOE Genomic Science Program's Secure Ecosystem Engineering and Design Science Focus Area.

FEELING AT HOME

He's adept at managing a private life in the public eye. She's a self-confessed introvert who leans on him to navigate this tightrope walk. A common love of home, however, binds celebrities Aviva Bidapa and Abishek Ambareesh as they share with us in this chat on Valentine's Day

DESE GOWDA

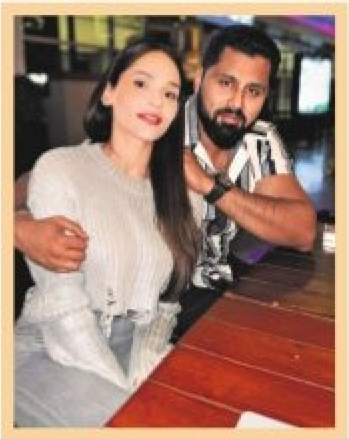
THE most delightful thing, as cliche as it sounds, is always having Abishek to come home to," says model, and fashion designer Aviva Bidapa, speaking of her recent marriage to actor Abishek Ambareesh. The daughter of veteran fashion designer Prasad Bidapa and actor-director Judith Bidapa, Aviva tied the knot with Abishek, the son of famed actor-politicians Sumalatha Ambareesh and the late Ambareesh, in mid-2023. The wedding was a lavish affair, conducted following the Vokkaliga tradition, and saw in attendance some of the biggest names in fashion, entertainment, and politics, including the likes of superstar Rajinikanth.

Yet, the duo's first Valentine's Day as a married couple is set to be anything but glitzy. "Traditionally, we used to go on dinner dates – but with so much going on the last few years it's just been a chance to stay home, order in, and chill," shares Abishek, to which Aviva adds, "We definitely just like to chill. We're always out and about so Valentine's Day is our opportunity to slow down and spend quality time."

The low-key celebration is a telling reflection of their attitudes to their union, given their hectic schedules. "We've known each other for quite a while. So I wouldn't say there were many surprises afterward. But I suppose for me it's the feeling of comfort to come home after a long day of work or travel. Makes the stress of work much easier to bear," explains Abishek.

Similarly, managing a private life in the public eye can be challenging, and for Aviva, a self-confessed introvert, she now has someone she can lean on for help. "For me, being in the public eye is extremely hard to navigate. Abishek is really good at that. He knows my boundaries and protects me from it as much as he humanly can," she says. To unwind from their hectic schedules, the couple has come to enjoy simple pleasures. "We just love to sit at home, order some good food, and watch a movie. It's our happy place," says Aviva, a sentiment mirrored by Abishek, who prefers to watch something humorous to relax with 'the Mrs'.

When it comes to disagreements, the couple prioritises love and understanding. "We don't sweat the small stuff," says Aviva. "We have our differences for sure. But live and learn one day at a time and always try to lead with love," says Abishek, who finds Aviva's support crucial, especially during challenging times at work. "She has a fierce sense of loyalty, and has been a massive support to me, especially when it has been a bad day," he adds.



We don't sweat the small stuff. We have our differences for sure. But we live and learn one day at a time

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

① By the beginning of the 20th century, Bengaluru witnessed the upspring of many mutts in and around the city. Of which, the prominent one is the Shankara Mutt. Established in 1907 towards the south of the peta (old city) area, the mutt has lent its name to the area, Shankarapuram. The quaint mutt building in stone is located on Shankar Mutt Road which connects two early extensions of the city. Name the extensions.

② Ramakrishna Math was established in Bengaluru in the year 1903. Initially housed in a rented building, it moved to the present building in Basavanagudi in 1909. The math was initially called 'Ramakrishna Mission Institute', then 'Ramakrishna Ashrama' in 1910 and was renamed to 'Ramakrishna Math' later. Name the iconic road on which it is located.

③ Malleswaram, one of the earliest extensions of the city, houses three prominent mutts, namely Chitrapur Mutt, Yathiraj Mutt and Shringeri Mutt. Chitrapur Mutt has lent its name to the circle where the mutt is located. Name the Nobel Laureate who lived in a sprawling bungalow named 'Panchavati' near the circle.

KNOT FOREVER: WRITINGS ON MODERN MARRIAGES

FLYLEAF
VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

IN the US, 76 per cent of marriages don't work: 56 per cent end in divorce and roughly 20 per cent stay in a marriage for the sake of their children. Is the institution of marriage overrated? Is it even relevant in today's time? The book All or Nothing Marriage by Eli J Finkel has an interesting insight: over the course of the last century, while divorces have increased the best marriages today are better than the best ones in previous eras.

The word "marriage" comes from Middle English and was first seen in 1250-1300 CE. According to a magazine, the first recorded marriage took place in 2350 BCE in Mesopotamia, but the institution of marriage is likely even more ancient. Throughout history, parents arranged marriages to serve as an alliance between families that would bring (mainly economic) benefit to both sides. Love and companionship entered the picture only in the mid nineteenth century, but today, a new kind of marriage has emerged – one oriented towards self-discovery, self-esteem, and personal growth.

In India the divorce rate is 1 per cent, one of the lowest in the world, and yet the numbers have increased by 350 per cent in the previous two decades. In India, young people who grew up with the internet and the advent of smartphones and social media are expected to adhere to thousands of years of tradition when it comes to marriage. It's that conflict between obeying tradition and embracing modernity that drives journalist Mansi Choksi's The Newly Weds. The book is a literary investigation into India as a society in transition through the lens of forbidden love, as three young couples reject arranged marriages and risk everything for true love during social and political upheaval.

ELI J. FINKEL

Lori Gottlieb's bestselling memoir Maybe You Should Talk to Someone, traces the process of working on her own romantic relationships alongside her therapist. Many therapists have saved marriages and so have books. Dr John Gottman has done in-depth research on relationships for over 50 years. He and his wife Dr Julie Schwarz, who are both therapists and clinical psychologists, founded The Gottman Institute and developed the Gottman Method of Relationship Therapy. In his book Seven Principles for Making Marriage Work, he has come up with seven essential strategies to help correct behaviours that cause discord in relationships. It's filled with practical advice, as well as questionnaires and exercises to do with your partner.

The Gottmans co-wrote Eight Dates, a guide to strengthen your love with a fun, ingenious programme of eight life-changing conversations on essential topics such as money, sex, and trust. I was intrigued by their 5:1 ratio – you need to do five positive things to make up for one negative thing if you want a relationship that works! In couples who ended up with a divorce the ratio was 0.8:1. Similarly, Earl Hunt, in The Mathematics of Behavior, had a probability formula to predict marital success. He wrote: "The equilibrium point for negative marriages is unstable." If either partner is even slightly less negative, the point will shift towards the positive.

What Hunt meant was that one shouldn't dwell on negative thoughts. Make it a point to say positive things to each other, although it is important to express your disagreements and wants – though in a constructive manner. The 'perfect marriage' is an illusion; every marriage is work in progress and needs constant reinforcement. Just as a plant needs water and fertiliser, a marriage requires ongoing care. Be the first to say, I'm sorry. When your partner reaches out in kindness, whether spontaneously or in an effort to rebuild trust, welcome it readily without judgement or scepticism.

We should never forget that "Happily ever after is not by chance, it's a choice". Navigating the challenges of long-term commitment takes effort and I hope therapies and books provide the resource that will allow us to remain committed to one of the oldest human institutions.

(The writer's views are his own)

From young love unfolding in royal palaces to forbidden romances lurking in disguises, history is replete with tales that tug at hearts. This V-Day Jitha Karthikeyan observes that love has always thrived in India as folklore serves to prove

THE HUES OF ANCIENT LOVE

The Chola affair

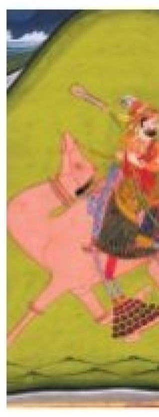
This story from Tamil Nadu begins about 2,000 years ago. While out on an evening stroll in his capital Puhar, the Chola King Killivalavan saw a woman and it was love at first sight. The courtship lasted a month until one day, the woman disappeared. Not knowing her identity, the king was unable to trace her. Later on, a sage told the king that she was a Naga princess who would never return, but that their son would come back to him from the sea to carry on his legacy. On the birth of a boy, as prophesied, the princess sent the child on a boat with a garland of creepers (Thondai Kodi) around his neck for identification. The boat capsized but the boy survived to be united with his father. The king went forth to name his kingdom Thondai Naadu and his son, who was carried by the waves to him, as Thondaiman Thiraiyar, who ascended the Chola throne eventually.

Rani Roopba and Rana Veer Singh

This love story from Gujarat has a noble cause as its backbone. The Adalaj stepwell in Gujarat built in the 16th century is one of the finest examples of Indian architecture behind which lies an extraordinary tale. King Rana Veer Singh started the construction, as his kingdom was often subjected to water shortages but the well was completed by his Queen, Rani Roopba. The story goes like this – the king was killed in a battle by the invading forces of Mahmud Begada who was so enamoured by Rani Roopba's beauty that he proposed marriage.

Desperately desiring the completion of the stepwell for the sake of her husband and her people, she accepted the proposal on the condition that Mahmud would undertake that task before the wedding. Happy that she had succumbed, the invader ensured that the well was ready in record time, only to discover to his shock that the woman of his dreams, Rani Roopba, had jumped into the well to end her life in memory of her true love for her lost husband. The Queen's supreme sacrifice for her parched kingdom is still remembered today.

DholaMaru



Rajasthan may conjure up visions of courage, but the land is also known for stories where love triumphs, the most famous being that of Dhola and Maru. When the Narwar King, Dhola and the Princess of Poongal, Maru were married as toddlers, it was a marriage for a political alliance. The couple grew up oblivious to the other in their respective kingdoms. The death of the King's father hurried his ascension to the throne and marriage to Princess Malwani. The royal household of Poongal, however, awaited the king's arrival to claim his child bride but in vain. Messages to him were intercepted by his second wife until a folk singer was dispatched from Poongal to trigger the king's memory. The plan worked and the shocked king who then remembered his childhood promise, set off to bring home his bride. The return journey was difficult with many obstacles to be overcome, but the story has a happy ending with Maru reaching Narwar and Queen Malwani accepting her presence. Countless songs and couplets in the history of Rajasthan narrate this endearing story.

Jahan Ara Nicholas Ballantyne

The world acknowledges the Taj Mahal as the grandest embodiment of love. Tourists are reminded of an affection that even death could not erase by basking in the beauty of this monument built by Shah Jahan for his beloved Mumtaz. Mahal. Yet, the poignant story of Shah Jahan's eldest daughter, Jahan Ara has been ignored. When an Englishman, Nicholas Ballantyne, arrived in India as squire to Sir Thomas Roe, the first English Ambassador to the Mughal Court during the reign of Emperor Jahangir, he fell in love with Jahan Ara. It is believed that both spoke at length and exchanged letters. This, a case of forbidden love, back in the day, when royal women were not allowed to talk to strangers. In the end, aware of his fate, Nicholas returned to London, bidding farewell to Jahan, never to see her again.

COMEDY IS A DELICATE BALANCE: KM CHAITANYA

A SHARADHAA

The director talks about his upcoming film, Abbaabba, which is releasing this week

A still from the film

ABBAABBA! a vibrant, colloquial term in Kannada, comes across as more than just an exclamation and is more of a spectrum of emotions. Whether it's joy, surprise, or sheer excitement, 'Abbaabba' finds its way into everyday conversations. Director Chaitanya presents us with a rollercoaster of laughter and fun with his latest release Abbaabba, hitting theatres this Friday.

The film distributed by KRG Studios, stars Likith Shetty and Amrutha Iyengara along with Ajay Raj, Thandav, Dhanu Achar, Vijay Chendoor, Sharath Lohitashwa, and Avinash as part of the ensemble cast.

In an era where multilingual releases are becoming increasingly common, Chaitanya draws inspiration from a Malayalam film, Adi Kapyare Kootamani, to craft the Kannada version, Abbaabba. "I believe it is more of an adaptation rather than mere replication. I have brought in newness into the narrative, placing it in fresh settings and situations, offering a comical family escapade unlike any other. I also like to stress that it is a family entertainer," Chaitanya asserts, adding, "It's a theme that transcends age barriers, ensuring a wholesome experience for people of all ages, including children."

Reflecting on the genesis of the project, Chaitanya shares, "When Friday Films banner approached me with the idea, I initially hesitated. However, their openness to suggestions and willingness to integrate elements that resonate with Kannada culture convinced me to direct the project."

At its core, Abbaabba revolves around the girl inadvertently trapped in a boys' hostel, which eventually paves the way for laughter, romance, and mischief similar to hostel life. The story brings in nostalgia, evoking fond memories for many, while the rest wish they had a similar experience in college.

While Chaitanya admits to refraining from repeating genres, he calls comedy an exception as he is back to it after Parari, and he finds both films challenging and exhilarating. "Comedy demands a delicate balance," he shares, adding, "To me, comedy works because of two things: The script and actors. Just with music and cinematography, you cannot tell a comedy story. Actors need to work on a timeline."

Navigating the complexities of comedy, Chaitanya ensures bringing a mix of established actors and fresh talent, which he says was carefully chosen to breathe life into the characters. "Irrespective of actors who have experiences or debutants, rehearsals play a pivotal role in my projects. Through this process, I have ensured that every actor became an integral part of the world I was creating, ensuring seamless delivery of humour." Deepak Alexander has scored the film's music for the film, and Manohar Joshi handles the cinematography.

Sampada joins Karavalli

The actor has been selected to play the female lead opposite Prajwal Devaraj

CE FEATURES

IT was earlier expected that Amulya would be making her comeback to films with Prajwal Devaraj's Karavalli, directed by Gurudatha Ganiga. However, she couldn't come on board and according to the latest news, the makers have finalised Sampada to play the female lead. The actor, who made a transition from serial (Mithuna Rashi) to the silver screen, made her mark with Nikhil Kumar's Ryder. Karavali marks her solo lead role.

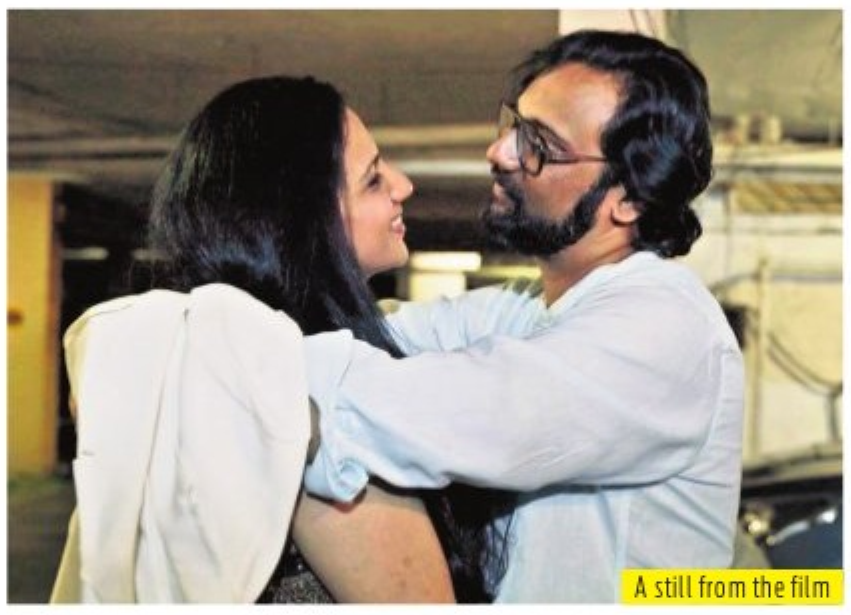
'An accidental meeting with Shankar Nag triggered my passion for Kannada cinema'

CE FEATURES



A still from the film

RAVI Kashyap, an NRI Kannadiga, has always had a heart for Kannada films, and as a distributor and producer, he has kept the Kannada film flag flying high in the USA under the banner Jolly hits. He got associated with Pawan Kumar's Lucia and was one of the key producers. Sulle Sathya by Akash Srivatsa backed by him, was the first Kannada film screened at the Cannes Film Festival. He also produced Badmaash starring Dhananjay. Additionally, he collaborated on an English short film, The Puppet Master, and released the Telugu version of Dia, directed by Ashoka and Srini's Old Monk, to name a few.

Now, Ravi is gearing up to release Saramsha, a film backed by him and directed by Surya Vasishta. It is slated to hit theaters on February 16.

The film is produced under Vibha Kashyap Productions and Clap Board Production will feature a background score by Aparajith along with Surya Vasishta. Udit Haritas has handled the music direction and Pradeep Naik is the editor. In Bengaluru, speaking on the sidelines of the release of Saramsha, Ravi expressed his passion for Kannada cinema. "It all started as a teenager when I accidentally met the legendary filmmaker Shankar Nag while studying in Bengaluru during 1988-89. We built a bond over technology, and I was drawn to his direction and theatre work. However, parental pressure led me to focus on my studies and later move overseas, settling in the UK and then the US. But my inclination towards Kannada cinema never faded, and in 2011, I started film distribution," he says.

Kashyap aims to bring more talent to the forefront and elevate Kannada films to a global level under his banner. "I intend to take Kannada films to the next level and create a global connection," he says.

Talking in particular about Saramhsa, Ravi shares that he was drawn to the story. "When Surya Vasishta narrated the story of Saramsha back in 2016, I liked it because it focused on the relationship between parents and their children. The early audience response was emotional, and the film, which has shades of Lucia, intrigued viewers, leaving them wondering if it is a thriller or fantasy." The film also features Asif Kshatriya, Ravi Bhatt, Ram Manjunath, Satish Kumar, and Prithvi Banavasi.

Meanwhile, Ravi is preparing to kickstart Daiji with Ramesh Aravind and director Akash Srivatva. "Eighty percent of Daiji's shooting will take place in the USA, and we are waiting for the visa process. Hopefully, it will be released by the end of the year," he concludes.
